Tear Gas Routs Crazy Man

Frank Kirsch, 36, clutching a long butcher knife, gasps for air after being forced from second floor apartment by tear gas fired by Pittsburgh police. He fell into awning a few seconds later and was seized by police. Officers said he went berserk, beat up his wife and wrecked the tavern last night. Kirsch was taken to a hospital for observation. Floods Peril Texas Cities In Southeast

More Rain Seen, Rampaging Rivers Sweep Wide Area

DALLAS (AP)—Cities and towns in east and southeast Texas geared today for the worst flood threat in decades as rain-swollen rivers raced toward the Gulf.

Virtually every major river in east and south central Texas was surging near or above major flood stages.

The Weather Bureau predicted another five days of the devastating heavy rain that has lashed the state for almost two weeks, flooding lowlands and forcing thousands of persons to evacuate their homes.

The April floods and tornadoes have been declared by the Red Cross as the worst disasters in the history of its Texas operations.

The Small Business Administration yesterday designated eight counties as disaster areas because of floods and tornadoes. These include Dallas, Tarrant, Bell, Coryell, Williams, McLennan, Smith and Gregg.

The action makes home and business owners whose property was damaged eligible to apply for rehabilitation construction loans at 3 per cent interest rates.

The worst flood threat in the state appeared to be on the Sabine River, which runs along the eastern boundary with Louisiana.

The Weather Bureau at Shreveport, La., which handles the upper Sabine, issued flood warnings for its entire length, from the headwaters deep in northeast Texas to the Gulf of Mexico.

Cities and towns along the rain-swollen Colorado, Brazos and Trinity also prepared for flood crests surging downstream.

Wharton and Bay City, near the Gulf coast, were warned to expect the most serious flood threat in 16 years. The two towns are in the center of a rich agricultural region in southeast Texas.

Widow, 62, Ends Life With Noose

WESTMINSTER, Md. (AP)—A widow was found yesterday hanged from a rafter in a wood shed behind her home at Uniontown, seven miles west of here.

The hanging victim was Mrs. Alveta Stuller Haines, 62-year-old widow of Leroy Haines.

Dr. James T. Marsh, Carroll County medical examiner, said Mrs. Haines died of suffocation. He ruled her death a suicide.

While 30 other ships of the fleet conducted air defense maneuvers, six transports with 1,800 men of the 6th Marines' 2nd Battalion moved into Beirut harbor for a liberty party.

Three Crewmen Hurt 'Clipper' Explodes At Baltimore Port

BALTIMORE (AP)—A DC7 airliner with six crewmen aboard caught fire and exploded early today at Friendship International Airport. Three crewmen were injured but all six got out without help.

The Pan American World Airways Clipper had been practicing touch-and-go landings with no passengers aboard. It burst into flames while taxiing down the runway before taking off for New York's Idlewild Airport.

The plane had stopped and a medical crash crew led by Air Force Staff Sgt. Shelton Miller was under the tail when the first explosion let go.

Pilot E. D. Morris sprained his ankle when he jumped from the plane. "It's too late to talk," he said. "It's against company policy."

Two other crewmen were in University Hospital. Francis Harrington suffered a broken right ankle and John Troka a broken left ankle and foot.

The four-engine plane was badly burned on the outside, but the interior escaped serious damage. One wing was broken. Both left motors and the right inboard motor burned. One wheel broke off and lay burning beside the fuselage, tipped forward on its nose.

"I heard a sound as if a plane was flying real low," Sgt. Miller told a newsman. "We knew there was a crash as soon as we heard it. I guess we all knew it."

When the fire crew arrived 1½ minutes after the plane caught fire, flames were shooting 20 feet into the air from engines in both wings.

The big plane lurched down the runway trailing flaming gasoline. It spilled to the right and rear, probably the only reason crewmen were not burned.

Solons Seek More Facts In 'Payoffs'

McClellan Orders Inquiry In Claim Navy Paid 'Bribes'

By G. MILTON KELLY

WASHINGTON (AP)—A manufacturer's testimony that he made payoffs to a Teamsters Union official with the "consent" of the government and with funds from the Navy sent Senate rackets probers off today on a new tack.

Earl P. Bettendorf, who operates pallet manufacturing plants at Ashdown, Ark., and Sandston, Va., variously called the payments "bribes" and denied they were bribes, in testimony at a public hearing yesterday before the Senate Rackets Investigating Committee.

Bettendorf appeared at his own request, to correct what he said were injustices done him by witnesses who testified in previous hearings by the committee.

Chairman McClellan (D-Ark) ordered a swift follow-through inquiry into the facts about Bettendorf's story that the Navy supplied him with $18,591.30 "so the union could be paid off."

The amount of the alleged payoffs remained uncertain, however. Bettendorf said he paid a total of about $4,000. He did not explain what was done with the rest of the money.

Bettendorf testified that the payments went to Joseph McHugh, a business agent of the Scranton, Pa., Teamsters Union local. The witness said the payments were made to get the union's permission for his trucks to make deliveries at the government's Signal Corps depot at Tobyhanna, Pa.

"I was paying him a bribe," the manufacturer said of McHugh at one point. "I paid it with the complete knowledge of the U. S. government." He also said he paid with the government's "knowledge and consent."

But Bettendorf also insisted that he did not consider it a bribe. Sen. Kennedy (D-Mass) retorted that "there is no other word for it," and added, "A bribe is against the law."

McHugh and Robert Malloy, another business agent for the union, are under federal indictment in Scranton now on charges of receiving $4,200 from Bettendorf.

Bettendorf insisted that not only did the government know he was making the payments, but that he cooperated with the FBI for two years while the case was under investigation.

Bettendorf said that when his trucks first started deliveries to Tobyhanna in August 1953, the union demanded $13.12 each to let them in.

He said he got in touch with Washington and also with McHugh. He said McHugh finally settled on payments of $175 a week from Bettendorf, after first demanding $225.

Washington (AP)—Dr. Otto Nathan, executor of the estate of Albert Einstein, was convicted today of contempt of Congress.

Federal District Judge Edward M. Curran deferred sentence and allowed Dr. Nathan to remain at liberty under $1,000 bond. The maximum penalty for contempt of Congress is a year in jail and a $1,000 fine.

Judge Curran conducted the trial without a jury.

He rejected all defense contentions, including one that the House Committee on Un-American Activities which questioned Nathan, lacked jurisdiction to legislate in the field of passports.

Builder Sees Big Shortage In Ten Years

WASHINGTON (AP)—A home builder said today that unless housing catches up quickly with population growth, the next decade will bring "the worst housing shortage in all our history."

In a tart speech prepared for the 45th annual meeting of the U. S. Chamber of Commerce, President George S. Goodyear of the National Assn. of Home Builders declared: "We will be the best-dressed, best-fed, healthiest and fastest-moving nation of tent-dwellers on earth."

"Of course we know we are not going to live in tents. If private industry defaults then the government will do the job."

"Then our great housing industry—the builder, the lender and the manufacturer—truly will be subsidized and socialized."

Goodyear deplored the government's tight-money policy and the "delay, disagreement and do-nothing" which he said have killed the GI housing program and depressed industries which supply materials and equipment for new dwellings.

"Make no mistake about it," said the Charlotte, N.C., builder. "Our population is growing faster than the vision of our leaders."

Mail Clerks Busy As Bees

NEW YORK (INS)—Two hundred animated honey bees drove employees in New York's General Post Office to cover when they buzzed out of a portable hive in the mails.

DDT spray speedily killed the insects and tranquillity returned. Aside from bees, the Post Office handles only chicks, frogs, small turtles and alligators in the way of live freight.

Ike Returns, Facing Fight On Problems

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower packs his golf clubs today and flies back to Washington to deal with tough international problems and try to push his legislative program through Congress.

The President was pictured as well rested and feeling fine after almost two weeks in the Georgia sun.

On the international front, White House press secretary James C. Hagerty envisioned "very difficult days ahead" for Eisenhower.

The problem of building a strong Western Europe engages the President's attention first on his return to Washington.

A major task the United States faces at the NATO session is to try to persuade its European allies against further reduction of their armed forces in the face of a continuing Soviet threat.

Still another problem confronting Eisenhower in the international field is the criticism in Congress of the administration's projected $4,400,000,000 foreign aid program. Many lawmakers think the program is too expensive—and they are talking about a good-sized cut.

To try to head that off the President yesterday invited Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to a White House conference May 9.

Ten Millions Assigned To Arab Nation

Government Shuns Ike Doctrine But Made Aid Appeal

By ANGELO NATALE

AMMAN, Jordan (AP)—Jordan's new government has indicated it will accept an offer of 10 million dollars in U. S. economic aid so long as it doesn't commit the Arab nation to the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Talks on the American offer to bolster the country's shaky economy—previously dependent on the bounty of Saudi Arabia, Egypt and Syria—already were under way.

The Soviet Union, meanwhile, accused the United States of heading a plot to deprive the Arab countries of their freedom. Moscow charged that the past three weeks of crisis in Jordan and other Middle East tensions resulted from the desire of "American billionaires" to become rulers of the area.

Praise Jordan's Stand The U. S. Embassy announced the 10-million-dollar aid offer in recognition of the "brave steps taken by His Majesty King Hussein and the government and people of Jordan to maintain the integrity and independence of their nation."

In Washington, State Department spokesman Lincoln White said the Jordan government had requested the aid last weekend. White emphasized that it would come out of regular foreign aid funds, not from the 200 million dollars authorized to combat communism under the Eisenhower Doctrine.

Indicating the offer would be accepted, Foreign Minister Samir Rifai told newsmen: "We would welcome any assistance from anywhere provided it is offered unconditionally and would not interfere in any way with the freedom, sovereignty and independence of Jordan."

Rifai said the Eisenhower Doctrine "isn't the issue before this government," and that Jordan has no intention of inviting James P. Richards, the U. S. President's special Middle East envoy, to come to Amman to explain the anti-communist doctrine.

Reds Being Routed Hussein and his new government already have made important strides in ridding Jordan of Communist and leftist elements. But because of the deep impression made on the Jordan public by Egyptian and Syrian propaganda blasts against the Eisenhower plan, any move to associate Jordan with it would almost certainly bring another upheaval.

Officials of the U. S. operations mission to Jordan began talks with government officials on ways to use the new funds. The mission director, Harold S. Nelson, said the 10 million dollars is in addition to five million already on hand for development projects in Jordan.

Marine Party Goes Ashore On 'Liberty' In Middle East

By WATSON SIMS

ABOARD USS MOUNT MCKINLEY, in Beirut (AP)—Marines of the U. S. 6th Fleet went ashore in the Middle East today, wearing tropical dress uniforms rather than battle fatigues and grins instead of grenades.

While 30 other ships of the fleet conducted air defense maneuvers, six transports with 1,800 men of the 6th Marines' 2nd Battalion moved into Beirut harbor for a liberty party.

A two-pounder gun on this flagship of the amphibious force boomed separate 21-gun salutes for Lebanon and President Camille Chamoun as the force entered the harbor at 9 a.m.

"We were prepared to shoot our way into a trouble spot if necessary," said Cmdr. John Jones of Chatsworth, Ga., executive officer of the Mount McKinley.

Many People Have Mental Quirk Psychiatrist Says They Can't Get Close To Others

By BENNIE TAYLOR

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Millions of people in this country have a strange mental quirk which prevents them from becoming close to others and they need a special type of medical treatment, Beverly Hills psychiatrist asserted today.

The supercarrier Forrestal, center of the fleet, steamed briskly into the wind as planes landed on its flight decks.

Many of these are successful doctors, artists, writers and business executives but they feel that they are "outsiders" among their fellow men, he said. They often go on alcoholic or drug sprees or they may indulge in sex activity as a desperate effort to break through the barrier, Dr. Theodore Rothman told the California Medical Assn. The usual cure treatment with psychoanalysis even can make them much worse, he asserted.

A likely way of treating them, Dr. Rothman said, is a combination of drugs which can temporarily break down the barrier, and then a more deft but also more persistent effort with psychotherapeutic techniques.

Princess Grace And Rainier Have Audience With Pontiff

VATICAN CITY (AP)—Monaco's Princess Grace, resplendent in diamonds and black, accompanied by Rainier II today to a state audience with Pope Pius XII.

The rulers of the tiny Riviera principality arrived about 10 minutes late for their audience with the 91-year-old pontiff, who received them on the threshold of the Vatican palace's little throne room.

Grace was a striking figure. She wore the customary black lace Devota, patron of Monaco. The veil, a diamond circlet on her blond hair and diamonds at her throat, wrists and ears.

The pontiff, robed in white and gold, led the couple to chairs near his throne and talked with them for about 15 minutes. Then other members of the royal party were admitted to the audience, which lasted another five minutes.

Rainier and Grace gave the pontiff a rare medallion of St. Devota, patron of Monaco. The Pope gave Grace an ivory and blond hair and diamonds at her throat, wrists and ears.

Presbyterian Group Votes 'Cooperation'

Southern Assembly To Continue Its Council Support

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — Continued cooperation with the national and world councils of Churches of Christ was approved last night by the 97th general assembly of Southern Presbyterians.

Affiliation with these councils is an issue of long standing among some Southern Presbyterians, and has become almost a perennial problem.

The issue has come to a vote 14 times since 1941, although cooperation between Southern Presbyterians and the councils has never been threatened seriously.

A companion measure contained in the report of the standing committee on interchurch relations promised consideration of a proposal to seek to unite Southern Presbyterians with the Reformed Church of America.

The Southern church two years ago defeated a move which sought to unite it with Northern Presbyterians and United Presbyterians.

The recommendation referring to the Reformed Church was sent to the permanent interchurch committee for further study. This, in effect, delays action on the proposal until the 98th general assembly at Charlotte, N. C., next year.

The largest stumbling block between such a unification is the segregation issue. There is no law in the Southern Presbyterian church banning segregation, but there are separate churches maintained for Negro members.

The Reformed Church is located primarily in the New England area.

The assembly yesterday approved a record benevolent budget of nearly nine million dollars, an increase of 35.4 per cent.

Commissioners approved a total budget for 1958 of $8,913,810, compared to $6,936,896 for 1957.

The most controversial proposal before the assembly, which ends today, was that dealing with the national and world councils.

The largest appropriation in the record budget was $4,330,000 for the Board of World Missions. The Board of Church Extension will receive $1,955,964; the Board of Christian Education, $735,670.

Army's Jupiter Missile Firing

Termed Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — Pentagon sources say the Army's Jupiter missile — completely assembled and carrying a dummy warhead — was successfully fired 600 miles last weekend with what they called "satisfactory" accuracy.

These sources said the firing, witnessed by Secretary of Defense Wilson, marked the first successful launching of a complete military ballistic missile.

The Jupiter, under development by the Army at the Redstone Arsenal, is designed for a maximum range of 1,500 miles.

New Jersey Jury Indicts Magazines For Indecency

ELIZABETH, N. J. (INS) — Seven national magazines including Confidential, and 47 persons have been indicted by a New Jersey grand jury on charges of conspiracy to sell indecent literature.

The individuals named are publishers or national distributors of Confidential and six "men's magazines" — Adam, After Hours, Capers, the Gent, Dude and Jem.

The true bills handed down yesterday by the Union County grand jury followed complaints filed three months ago by the mother of a nine-year-old boy. She said her son had brought two of the magazines home.

County Prosecutor H. Russell Moss said that the magazines named were not considered obscene but apparently went "beyond the limits of common decency."

Nearly all of the individuals and magazines are quartered outside New Jersey. The prosecutor said that he expected a stiff extradition battle before persons cited could be brought to court on the charges.

Ex-Police Clerk Faces Assault, Robbery Trial

EASTON, Md. (AP) — A former Easton Police Department clerk, Harold Franklin Landwehr, 25, was held for the grand jury today on assault and robbery charges in connection with the shooting of an elderly grocer.

Landwehr is charged with armed robbery and assault with intent to kill Robert H. Slaughter, 61.

Trial Magistrate Charles E. Wheeler fixed bond at $5,000 and held Landwehr for the Talbot County Grand Jury which convenes next May 20.

The warrant charged Landwehr with stealing $12.

The robbery shooting occurred April 17 about 4 p. m.

Landwehr was picked up about three hours later and has been held in the county jail at Easton.

His attorney sought to have the bond reduced today and the magistrate ordered an investigation to determine if the request could be granted.

There was no defense testimony. Landwehr has entered no plea.

Slaughter testified at Landwehr's hearing that the insurance salesman "came in, sat down and talked to me for about five minutes about the weather and his dogs."

"Somehow he got behind the chair I was sitting in, picked up some powder off one of the shelves and asked me what kind it was. I turned around and told him. Then he hit me with the butt of a gun and said 'This is a stick-up. Give me your money.'"

Slaughter said he then was shot in the back of the head and he got a piece of pipe and started for Landwehr.

As Landwehr was backing out of the store, Slaughter said, the man bumped into a coke cooler and then shot him in the face.

The second shot floored him and Landwehr fled, Slaughter said.

Trooper R. E. Williams of the Eastern State Police barracks said a .22 caliber-target pistol was found under the front seat of the accused's car the night he was arrested at a nearby filling station.

Gummen Lose Battle With Texas Police

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — Gene Paul Norris, notorious Texas Oklahoma badman, and a companion were shot to death yesterday in a blazing gun battle with Fort Worth and Tarrant County officers and Texas Rangers.

The shooting took place on the muddy banks of Walnut Creek a mile and a half east of Springtown, about 25 miles northwest of here.

The other dead man was identified as William Carl Humphrey. The Fort Worth Star-Telegram said reports from the scene of the gun battle indicated Norris and several other men had been planning a $240,000 payroll robbery at Carswell Air Force Base today.

Participating officers gave this account of the fight: They jumped Norris and Humphrey at Fort Worth. The pair fled in their auto at a high rate of speed, the officers hot in pursuit.

As Norris and Humphrey neared Springtown they turned off on a country lane, then wrecked their car as they attempted to round a sharp curve.

They took off on foot and began firing at the officers with a pistol and a shotgun. The officers returned the fire.

Norris fell mortally wounded on the bank of the creek while Humphrey made it to a small island in the middle of the stream before he was killed.

Norris was acquitted in April 1953 of the $240,000 robbery of a pair of exiled Cubans at Western Hills Hotel here the previous year.

A search was underway for other men reputed to have been involved in the robbery plan.

Hunt Widens For Boy, 10, In Salisbury

SALISBURY (AP) — Police planned to probe two holes in a dammed stream of Municipal Park today in their search for a 10-year-old New Jersey boy missing since Sunday.

Salisbury Police Chief William J. Chatham said the stream was so shallow that the holes remained about the only possibility.

Ronnie Corry, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Corry of Riverside in New Jersey's Burlington County, went to the park with his 13-year-old brother, Wallace Jr., Sunday while the family was visiting the Richard Corry home here.

Young Wallace returned saying he had lost his brother after going swimming in the stream. Ronnie's shoes and socks were found on the bank.

The search for the youngster has included a total of some 75 persons. It included a foot-by-foot combing of the park by city maintenance men.

Chief Chatham said last night the family told him the boy has suffered from amnesia and fainting spells, and has wandered off in the past.

Low-flying airplanes joined the search yesterday after a report that a boy answering Ronnie's description had been seen.

The Navy was paying McHugh $175 a week. He said, however, the Navy agreed to alter his contract and allowed him to charge an additional 194 cents per pallet on his contract to cover extra freight and unloading charges, including, said, 44 cents per pallet for the union.

Bettendorf said he kept books on the payments, and that the FBI placed the whole arrangement under surveillance with his cooperation. He said that if a hundred other businessmen would "put their heads on the block the way I did" they could end illegal activity by unions.

Bettendorf, contending he was paying under duress, said: "Every time I made one of these so-called payoffs . . . they always told me what they did to my competitors."

He said he would have had to shut down his factory unless he paid.

Humphrey To Confer With Egyptian Leader

CAIRO (INS) — Sen. Hubert Humphrey was slated to confer today with Egyptian President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

The Minnesota Democrat, who is touring the middle eastern trouble zone to "acquaint himself first hand with the situation," met yesterday with Foreign Minister Mahoud Fawzi.

After the war against Israel, the Arab League members even signed a collective defense pact. That was in 1950. It was the high-water mark of their unity.

Their defense agreement was virtually canceled out five years later. First Iraq joined the Baghdad defense pact against Russia along with Iran, Turkey, Pakistan and Great Britain, with American backing. Then Egypt and Syria the same year made a defense agreement between themselves.

By that time — 1955 — Nasser was in the saddle in Egypt, preaching pan-Arabism, playing on the Arab's anticolonial distrust of the West, their hatred of the Jews. By sheer talk and drive he pushed himself into a leadership position and he made himself a rallying point for all Arab nationalists in 1956 when, angered because this country refused him money to build a dam, he seized the Suez Canal. After that to make concessions was to lose face and leadership.

He needed big support to help him weather the storm of his opposition to the West. Naturally, he turned to anti-Western Russia. It became convenient then for the pro-Communists and the extreme Arab nationalists in the Middle

Belle Baker's Rites Friday

HOLLYWOOD — (INS) — Funeral services will be held in both Hollywood and New York for Belle Baker, one of the great stars of vaudeville, who died of a heart ailment at the age of 58.

The former star, who was planning a comeback in show business, died Sunday night.

Funeral services will be held in Hollywood and in Miss Baker's native New York City Friday. Burial will be in New York City.

Comet Seen In East Area Of Maryland

CHESTERTOWN, Md. (AP) — The Arend-Roland comet, discovered only last November, was seen from at least two points on Maryland's Eastern Shore and neighboring Delaware last night.

Bill Ostion of the Kent County News at Chestertown said the comet was in plain view looking northwest, with a "very brilliant light" and a long tail. In Georgetown, Del., Bill German of Radio Station WJWL said light from the Arend-Roland was "quite brilliant."

The comet also was observed last night from the Georgetown University observatory in Washington, D. C. The Rev. Francis Heyden, director, said: "It was the brightest comet I've ever seen."

Hayden Planetarium in New York had said the comet would be visible for a week beginning April 22, about 1½ hours after sunset. The planetarium said the comet might or might not have a tail and would be about as bright as the faintest star in the Big Dipper.

Therefore, it would be convenient for Nasser — particularly with his dreams of dominating the Arab world — if the kings were gone. It's no accident King Hussein blamed Egypt and communism for the riots in Jordan a year ago in his government this month.

Jordan Ruler Gives Nasser's Dream Of Solid Arab World Severe Setback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Youthful King Hussein of Jordan has badly jolted Egyptian President Nasser's dream of a solid Arab world, with Nasser as leader. But Nasser had some strikes on him before that, and it's no wonder.

The Arab countries have a long history of jealousies and conflicts, although, going back to the 19th century, when the Turks still bossed them, Arabs talked of the possibility of an independent Arab state some day.

The closest they could come to it was in 1945 when seven Arab nations — Egypt, Iraq, Saudi Arabia, Syria, Lebanon, Jordan and Yemen — formed the Arab League for joint action in all matters of common concern.

The motivating force for the league was the imminent creation of the new state of Israel. Now these Arab countries have, in common religion, language, and hostility to the Jews. There also are strong feelings of nationalism and anticolonialism, both a direct result of the long hold on them by Turks, British and French.

Pittsburgh Couple Wins Bridge Event

Mrs. Joseph Knepp
Best Player On Percentage Basis

A Pittsburgh couple, Miss Mary Elizabeth Tiernan and Dr. T. E. McCarthy, won the top honors at the seventh annual Western Maryland sectional bridge tournament when they teamed to win the open pair championship Sunday at the Cumberland Country Club.

Mrs. Joseph Knepp, this city, was named "Player of the Tournament" for posting the best percentage average in the various events. The selection was limited to players entered in at least three events.

No champions repeated in the tournament play Friday, Saturday or Sunday, all sessions of which were conducted at the Country Club. Approximately 400 players participated in the tournament which was under the direction of Jerome Machlin, Washington, D.C.

Defenders Third
Miss Clair E. Tiernan and H. Fuss, also of Pittsburgh, placed second in the open pair event, while H. G. Shores and S. Russ Minter, members of the sponsoring organization who were the defending champions, placed third.

Another local couple, Miss Alice Stakem and Mrs. Russell Bortz, tied for fourth place with George Simmond and Sam Grindlinger, both of Altoona, Pa.

The mixed pair event was won by Freda Bonlley and Sam Levenson, Washington, while the runners-up were Mrs. T. C. Keach and Paul E. Neff, also of Washington.

Another Washington team, Lewis C. Tubbs and Charles C. Roberts Jr., bent out George Bortz and A. J. Feigus, of the Western Maryland Club, for the men's pair championship.

Local Team First
The women's pair event was won by Mrs. Margaret Sloan of Lonaconing and Mrs. T. C. Keach, while the second place team was composed of the Misses Tiernan.

Two Cumberland women, Mrs. Joseph Knepp and Mrs. William Snyder, teamed to win the master pair play, by scoring ahead of another local team, John Moberly and William A. Douglas.

The non-masters pair event ended in a tie between Mrs. William Torkington and Mrs. Irwin Pariser, and Mrs. Robert Nichols and Mrs. Henry Johnson Jr.

In the qualifying round for the open pair event, the first place winners were Miss Mary E. Tiernan and Dr. McCarthy. Placing second were Mrs. Knepp and Mrs. Snyder, while Miss Claire Tiernan and H. Fuss were third.

In the special pair event, for those eliminated from the open

Sybert Urges Industry Use Atomic Study

FEDERALSBURG, Md. (AP)—Ally. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert said last night that Maryland should plan now for protecting the health and welfare of its citizens while atomic energy is being developed for private uses.

Sybert, in a speech prepared for delivery at a meeting of the Rotary Club in this Eastern Shore community, urged an immediate study of industrial uses of nuclear energy planned for Maryland.

The Attorney General said he would draft proposed legislation for protecting Marylanders against possible hazards which might develop from operation of atomic facilities.

The government recently awarded The Martin Co. a contract for construction of two atomic reactors at its Middle River-plant near Baltimore.

Sybert said Maryland should adopt promptly a program to insure:

1. That as the state's responsibility increases, a minimum level of competence be required by users of radioactive material.

2. That atomic reactors be operated so there can be no likelihood of an explosion or escape of radiation.

3. That waste and by-products of reactors be disposed of so that there is no danger of air or water pollution from radiation.

Two Grilled In Slaying

BALTIMORE (AP)—Two porters who worked in the restaurant where Heinz Heymann was fatally beaten have been questioned by homicide detectives.

Police, meanwhile, said they have found what they believe was the weapon used in the slaying. They would not say what the object was.

Heymann, a naturalized citizen who came to this country from Oldenburg, Germany in 1914, was found dead Sunday in a darkened alleyway of the Deutsches Haus, 305. Mintiens declined to call Dr. Russell S. Fisher, chief medical examiner, said an autopsy investigation.

OUR COUNTRY

The union of hearts, the union of hands and the flag of our Union forever—Morris.

Who's To Blame?

MOST COMPLAINTS against Congress for inaction in 1957 have tended to lay the blame on the administration's failure to press hard for its programs.

But evidently Sen. Lyndon Johnson, Senate majority leader, takes the criticisms as if directed primarily at the lawmakers. He cites some figures to refute the "do-nothing" charge—229 separate bills and resolutions passed by Congress, with an average of four and a half a day up to the Easter recess as against three and a half in 1955 and still fewer in 1953.

The critics appear to be unimpressed with mere statistics. They insist that only two major bills have passed, the Eisenhower Middle East doctrine, a resolution, and the measure extending corporate and excise taxes.

THE GREAT BULK of this year's backlog of legislation still rests in committees. The Senate, though on a big economy kick, hasn't got around to approving a single appropriation proposal for the 1957-58 period. Some might argue that congressional inactivity actually is a good thing, that there are periods when the quality of government need not be measured by bills passed, and that in any event Congress is often accused of approving far too many bills. It is almost certainly true that the lawmakers in any session pass too many measures, though congressional and other reforms could eliminate the necessity for considerable numbers of them. Major bills are something else.

A GOOD MANY would also say there is some sense in the idea that Congress and the administration do not have to justify their existence every year by whipping legislation through the mill at a great rate. But in this particular instance the Eisenhower administration has set itself several legislative goals in such fields as foreign aid, civil rights, aid to education and small business, and so on. Observers looking at Congress are bound to note any wide discrepancy between what the lawmakers are doing and what the President and their own leaders have suggested they do. If they are tackling a program, then the gauge is what happens to the program, not a Geiger counter report on the number of bills passed.

Tranquilizer

MOST AMERICANS seem to begin almost all their days in a hurry. They get up just a little too late to allow themselves enough time to get ready for the day's activities. They dress in a hurry, eat breakfast in a hurry, rush off to work as if the devil were in pursuit. The cumulative effect can only be bad. This can all be changed by the exercise of a little discipline. Rising a bit earlier, getting under way at a more leisurely pace, may be difficult—especially at first. But it can pay off in handsome dividends. One of the pleasantest things a man can do is to have a quiet look around outdoors before plunging into the day's merry-go-round. It is good to sniff the morning air, to look up at the sky and see the changing pattern of the branches, to listen to birdsong if it be only the twittering of sparrows. Five minutes of that builds up a reservoir of calm that can do wonders hours later when life seems fond to the brim of problems and frustrations. That quiet time in the morning is a better tranquilizer, in many cases, than anything that comes out of a box of pills.

Protest Mail

SEN. IVES of New York reported the other day that in the first two weeks of March he had received 1,100 letters urging tax cuts. This contrasted with over 160,000 received in a few weeks, when Gen. Douglas MacArthur was recalled from service in the Far East. The difference in public interest arouses speculation. By the standard of the MacArthur episode, desire for lower taxes does not appear very impelling. Or changes in tax rate may not strike citizens as dramatic enough to induce letter-writing. MacArthur's dismissal involved a controversial personality, and had the element of conflict that always creates widespread interest. At any rate, taxes have not been reduced. Perhaps the letter writers decided that they would not be, and so did not bother to use the mails.

Lee Remick Becomes Kazan's "Betty Lou"

NEW YORK—The reason Cinderella remained such a sweet, tender girl to the very end of her story (and her life, it's stoutly believed here), is that she hadn't the vaguest notion she would wind up a princess. She was ever modest, not to say pessimistic, about her future.

With Lee Remick, children, it is a different story. Lee is a 21-year-old actress with a sweet face and hair the shade of a sailor's delight night sky, and she is definitely slated to be Hollywood's "Cinderella" for 1957.

ELIA KAZAN, the famed director who "discovered" Carroll Baker last year, is "discovering" Lee this year. Sight (on screen) unseen, as yet she can already smell success—"It's something," she sniffs, "like roasting chestnuts"—and she can hear the glass slipper being ground and buffed to size.

She is sitting in an ivory satin and mirrored sort of New York apartment which she shares with her mother, and contemplating the whole deal.

"I suppose I've dreamed about this, without knowing it," she says matter-of-factly. "I know there'll be hoopla, and I can't stand that thought. I don't really relish the idea of being recognized here and there, and being sort of splashed over."

"But—" and her face curls round into a full blown Irish grin. "I'll just remember that it doesn't have anything to do, really, with me. It's just the part I play today."

SHE UN-GRINS suddenly and adopts a sincerely solemn look that must have captivated Kazan. "Maybe after I play tomorrow's part I'll be a nothing."

At this point, everybody in earshot titters. An actress discovered by Kazan—well, it is unthinkable that she could miss. The laughter goes unnoticed by the self-possessed Miss Remick; she neither blushes thanks for the blind faith of the titters.

It was last year, in a television drama called "All Expenses Paid," that the Rajah of Hollywood directors noticed Lee. He called her the next day.

"Look," he said to me. "I have a kind of crazy idea—I'm kind of crazy anyway. I have this movie script and I want you to take it home and read it again and again and then put all your thoughts together on the character of Betty Lou, and then come back and be Betty Lou for me."

LEE REMICK sighs, "be Betty Lou! I didn't know what on earth he was talking about. But I went home and studied and finally returned and did a monologue for Mr. Kazan and Budd Shulberg, who wrote the story. I made up my own dialogue. I bounced and twirled because Betty Lou is a baton-twirler in a high school band, and by 15 minutes I was feeling free and at home and wonderful. I got the part."

Then, because Betty Lou in Kazan's and Shulberg's "A Face In The Crowd" came from a poor Arkansas family, Lee was sent to Arkansas to live with a poor family for two weeks. "I thought I'd go crazy, but I know now it was an invaluable experience."

FOLLOWING this dive into character reality, Kazan sent Lee to Central Park for a long series of lessons in baton-twirling. Finally, when she felt and thought so much like Betty Lou that she possibly couldn't have passed a third-grade English quiz, they shot the film. It—and the big promotional blow-up for Lee—will be released in late May.

Factually, any resemblance between Miss Remick and Cindy, the pumped-up princess, is purely on a professional level. She is the well-to-do daughter of a Boston department store owner and a Broadway-TV actress.

She attended the best girls' schools and she has burning drive for money, fame and glory. Her ambition: to be a better actress every time, and to operate life in following sequence—"Do a picture, have a baby, do a picture, have a baby."

It seems likely that Lee may remain sweet to the end, even if she does know the slipper is her size and the prince is available.

Glancing Sideways

NEW YORK—You walk through the steadily dwindling crowds of 44th Street, their faces excited and eager, fresh from the bit shows which abound on that and 45th Street. They are getting into private cars and taxis as quickly as possible and within a few minutes, the street will be almost empty.

You stand at the entrance to Shubert Alley, watching the theatre disgorge its patrons from "Bells Are Ringing," and in a moment, Ruth Mitchell, New York's prettiest stage manager, comes out.

You talk with her about her new sports car, still unscratched and gleaming, and she tells you it is the epitome of driving—and you tell her that instead of wasting her money on flashy cars she should spend it on a course in the English language, which statement nettles her a little, and well it should.

YOU HAVE taken advantage of a long friendship to be a mite rude. But in Sardi's, over a beaker of iced tea, she asks what she said wrong.

You say that it isn't herself so much but 7,000,000 out of 8,000,000 New Yorkers or, for all you know, 155,000,000 out of 160,000,000 Americans who say exactly the same thing.

Epitome means, you say, the distillation of a long work into a short space, or even a section of a whole which characterizes the whole.

Being a direct type girl, she says, "All right, if not epitome, what?" And you say, "acme." The acme of fashion, not the epitome, unless a woman is wearing a long skirt in a time when long skirts are the total fashion. Then, of course, she is a section of a whole which characterizes the whole.

And Miss Mitchell says, "Well, the least I can do—pay for the iced tea."

SHE GETS INTO her shining chariot and goes off into the balmy night, experiencing the acme of driving. You walk up to Broadway experiencing the acme of loose ends. But at the corner you see Syd Chaplin who is waiting for a cab and until one comes, which it does in less than a minute, you exchange idle chatter of no consequence.

He vanishes into the night and you are about to decide on a walk through Wall Street at midnight, a lonely, ghostly trudge which

Europe Nothing Like This

N'LEAN, Va.—While I was wandering in far places and shaking hands with Dukes as if this were nothing new to me it was fun while it lasted, the grass continued to grow on my beaten-up acres.

The hired man also continued to wreck the machinery.

When finally I got home with champagne bubbles still on my tongue and the memory of Princess Grace's blondeness fresh in mind, my own bride gave me a jolt. She said, look out the window.

The flowers on all the bushes were in bloom. The roses were budding. The cherry trees were white, the apple trees were pink and the Othman lawns were a shambles of knee-high grass, wild onion shoots, and weeds with small yellow blossoms. Mrs. O. said I'd better get busy.

BOTH POWER lawnmowers were on the Fritz. The tractor ran fine, she said, but only backwards. She handed me a monkey wrench.

She said she told the hired hand to cut the grass around the house with my best rotary lawnmower. He started to do this, but Mrs. O. said she soon noticed an utter lack of noise outside. She found him holding a screwdriver, sitting there, looking at the machine.

She urged him to forget that one and make another try with mower No. 2, the yellow one that cuts the grass with engine power but must be pushed with the use of knee grease. He didn't like this idea, but Mrs. O. persisted. He started pushing.

MY BRIDE said she did believe he was a perverse genius. Within 10 minutes he had the second mower out of commission. No amount of tugging on the rope got a start from the engine. Mrs. O. still did not give up.

She said she told him he'd better take the tractor (which provides a sitting-down kind of job) into the fields and start mowing with the sickle bar.

"That lasted for half an hour," she said. "Then he came strolling up to the house with word that the tractor was broken. It most certainly was. The whole mechanism was in small pieces."

MY BRIDE is a patient woman. She did not explode. She merely phoned the tractor man in Herndon, Va., to rush over with some spare parts. This he did. He got that mower back into working condition, collected his fee, and went away. The hired man went back to mowing.

"This time it lasted for almost an hour," said Mrs. O., "and there he was, walking up the hill again. He said the mower worked well, but the tractor refused to run any way but backwards in reverse."

This struck Mrs. O. as a logical query and she suggested that maybe he'd better get busy with you try once a year for no driving reason, when you see Marc Reuben of Absinthe House, who has been ailing for a few weeks and who is sauntering along in the comforting, warm air trying to get a little exercise and build up his strength.

He asks you to come by some afternoon and discuss profound things like which is better, steak tartar or steak al fugo, and you say you will do that within a week or so.

He wanders off, gazing into windows, and then you decide to play a small game which will settle nothing in a disturbed world: you decide to count the number of men who pass who are wearing silk suits, Italian or otherwise.

This fruitless tally occupies 20 minutes and in that time you have checked off 128 men, 63 of whom are wearing silk suits.

JUST WHEN you decide you are contributing nothing valuable to the life you live, Herman Levin, producer of "My Fair Lady," gets out of a cab and he, too, is in silk. Black, raw silk with black, dull-sheen buttons.

He tells you that the awards won by the show, while desirable and appreciated, have renewed the crush of folk demanding, yelling, pushing and screaming for tickets and he doesn't know what can be done about it.

You suggest that he invest in building a theatre with rubber walls, but he doesn't think it is amusing and you have to concede that it isn't. He walks off down 44th Street bent on keeping an appointment and you decide to walk up Broadway.

AT 48th STREET, a stand where names are stitched on novelty hats and caps, is doing a brisk business and, as you pass, the hustler says: "Hey, you, Iowa, come in and get your name on a hat to take home," so you walk over and say, "You're slipin', Podner. It's Montana."

So he says that just for that I can have a $2 hat for $1, with both names on it and for $1 you decide to have some fun.

You say, "Well, Ah reckon Ah could invest," and you say the name is Xenopoulos Castinguering, and he says: "See you some other time, cowhand," and you walk on to 50th Street giggling to yourself like a fool.

WASHINGTON—Like dearest friends everywhere, the Congressional cronies of Rep. Clair Engle, of California, can't bear his sudden emergence as an aerial hero. In the true spirit of best friendship they are determined to furnish their buddy's new-found lust.

In recent days, the 45-year-old Engle flew two jets through the sound barrier—one at a time, of course. While putting in a refresher stretch of duty with the U. S. Air Force Reserve at Edwards Base, near Fresno, Calif., he soloed an F-100, and an F-102, faster than the speed of sound.

He strove to be modest about it. He tried to minimize the exploits by saying that he was the first Congressman since 1776 to exceed the sound of his own voice. But his modesty was so deprecatory it drove his closest colleagues berserk.

In fact, it almost caused Engle's best friend in Congress, Rep. Olin Teague, of Texas, to run amok. "Tiger," as Mr. Teague is known for his amiable disposition, grunted his teeth so furiously over his pal's demure acceptance of glory that tourists thought someone was operating a rock-crusher in a Capitol corridor.

"TIGER" TEAGUE fumed so scorchingly for a couple of days he had to breathe under water for fear of setting fire to himself. Then, with the deadly directness of a Khrushchev or Bulganin, he set about the de-Engleization of his best pal.

"This 'great ace'!" he spluttered. "This 'great ace' who, all alone up in the wild blue yonder, crashes the sound barrier! Why, I had to push him off a training tower to make him do a parachute jump!"

Well, I know something about what a Congressman will do for a friend, but I was startled nonetheless by "Tiger" Teague's asseveration.

"You mean," I screamed, "that you pushed a distinguished Member of Congress off a parachute training tower? . . . and a fellow Democrat to boot?"

"To boot" is right!" roared Tiger Teague. "That's the way I propelled him off!"

Rep. Teague is a year older than his California colleague, but he has never broken the sound barrier. He just seems to. He performed one of the most difficult feats known to vocalization; he bellowed in a Texas drawl.

He thundered: "Yes—this great hero, who claims to have flown faster than he can talk, went with me to Fort Benning, Georgia, a while back. We were taken down there by Col. Rennie Kelley, the Air Force congressional liaison officer

Problem Is Reaching Six

Put the ace of clubs in the West hand and let him open a spade and this slam won't make.

This possibility does not change the fact that North and South should reach the slam and the way the cards actually lay it was unbeatable. The problem was how to bid it and my son, Jim, and Woody Schafer of Dallas solved it quite nicely.

Woody, sitting South, opened one heart. Jim responded with two diamonds and Woody raised him to three. Jim bid three spades. Woody three no-trump and Jim four hearts.

This left it squarely up to Woody. Obviously Jim could have jumped right to four hearts over Woody's three diamonds. Then why had Jim bothered to bid three spades? He wasn't trying to get to no-trump as he had gone right out of that contract. He couldn't really be trying to find a spade fit at that stage. Jim had made an unnecessary bid for one purpose only, to show that he was interested in a slam.

It was perfectly reasonable to assume that Jim would hold the exact hand he did. Two aces, a five-card diamond suit to the king-jack and a singleton club. It was also possible that Jim might hold the king-queen-jack of spades instead of the ace. In this case there would be no slam but Woody had a way to find out about this.

Woody bid four no-trump asking for aces. Jim responded five hearts to show two aces and Woody contracted for the slam. All very easy but the game was duplicate and only one other pair got there.

County Bills Received By Senator See

Copies of Allegany County bills enacted at the recent legislative session of the General Assembly have been received by State Senator Charles M. See.

He said the bills are on file at his office in the Union Street County Building, and will be available to all interested citizens. During the session, he said, 1,616 bills were introduced. They included 648 Senate and 968 House bills.

Of the 648 Senate bills, 350 were passed by both houses and 338 of them were signed and 12 vetoed by Governor McKeldin. One of the vetoes was overridden by the Assembly.

Of the 968 House bills introduced, 528 were passed by both houses. Governor McKeldin signed 512 of the House sponsored bills and vetoed 15. One of the vetoes was overridden.

A total of 81 joint resolutions were introduced, 35 of them originating in the Senate and 46 in the House. Of them, 19 Senate Joint Resolutions and 22 House Joint Resolutions were passed by both houses.

A synopsis of all laws enacted by the Assembly is being prepared by the Department of Legislative Reference.

Fall Campaign Of United Fund To Be Organized

The fall campaign of the County United Fund will be organized so that it will get underway by September 2.

The executive committee of the fund last night authorized Edmund S. Burke, president, to appoint a committee to head the first financial drive.

The campaign, Burke said, will be a real challenge to the most capable leadership in Allegany County, adding that the cooperation of leaders of labor, business, commercial and women's organizations indicate the county is moving forward to meet the total needs of charitable, and health organizations.

Lewis J. Ort, vice president of the United Fund, said no goal has been set for the campaign but that it is likely from $275,000 to $300,000 will be needed to meet total needs.

The United Fund is being supported by the Teamsters, Textile Workers, Rubber Workers, Building Trades, Glass and Ceramics Workers, Electrical Workers, Luke Paper Workers and Brewery Workers, A. E. Johnson, Executive Committee member, reported.

Unions, he added, will not only endorse the fund but will help in solicitation in industries and in the neighborhoods.

The UF directors also approved the adoption of the chapter plan for businesses. Some 200 chapters could be formed among firms which employ five or more workers.

Thomas W. Miller, who is aiding in the organization of the UF, reported that surveys he has made indicate all segments of county givers recommend that goals of national health agencies, with the exception of holiday stamp appeals, be included in the goal of the initial fund campaign this fall.

Robert M. Hainsfurther, manager of Works 7 of the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, lauded the plan's labor-management committee for its support of the UF, and Mr. Johnson said the Kelly charity committee has endorsed the plan.

Similar funds at the Western Maryland Railway and Celanese plant will continue under current plans, the board was told.

Prominent New York Decorator Joins Staff at Hafer House...

Mr. Lewis Hensal, Jr.

Hafer House, the new home of fine furniture in Cumberland, announces the addition to their staff of Mr. Lewis Hensal, Jr., Interior Decorator.

Mr. Hensal, a native of Bedford, Pa., is eminently qualified in his field. He is a graduate of the Whitman School of Interior Design in New York City. Upon completion of his studies there, he did graduate work in Color Science at the Parsons School of Interior Design in that city.

Mr. Hensal worked with Mrs. Cornelia Van Sicken, a prominent New York Decorator. He was also engaged as a Color Consultant for Joan L. Maag, Incorporated, Fabric Designers, and served as head decorator with Olburn's Furniture and Interiors in Johnstown, Pa.

Mr. Hensal is well known as a lecturer, having spoken before many civic and women's organizations on "Problems of Interior Decoration in the Modern Home."

As a service of Hafer House, Mr. Hensal will be available to assist in the proper selection of fine furniture, draperies, flooring coverings and accessories for your home.

The new officers of the Ladies Auxiliary of Henry Hart Post 1411, Veterans of Foreign Wars, were installed Saturday night in a joint ceremony with the Post at the Post Home. Mrs. Goldie Speis officiated for the Auxiliary.

Mrs. Audrey Crable was installed as president; Mrs. Catherine Wilson, senior vice president; Mrs. Charlotte Himes, junior vice president; Mrs. Speis, secretary; Mrs. Mildred Fike, treasurer; Mrs. Elizabeth Nave, chaplain; Mrs. Grace Cross, conductress; Mrs. Annie Johnson, guard; and Mrs. Cinderella Smith, three-year trustee; Mrs. Zelleue Norris, two-year trustee; Mrs. Helene Bujac, one-year trustee, and Mrs. Sadie Smith, Mrs. Lillian Myers, Mrs. Helen Sandbury and Mrs. Elizabeth Valentine, color bearers.

Mrs. Chloe Reynolds, musician; Mrs. Ruth Jane Watson, historian; Mrs. Zelleue Norris, publicity; Mrs. Mary Moore, National Home chairman; Mrs. Bujac, welfare; Mrs. Alice Miller, legislative chairman; Mrs. Wilson, membership; Mrs. Reynolds, Cancer Fund; Mrs. Bujac, patriotic instructor; Mrs. Nave, community service; Mrs. Speis, blood bank; Mrs. Wilson, memorial fund; Mrs. Nave, Heart Fund; and Mrs. Grace Cross, hospital chairman.

A citation of merit was presented to Mrs. Mary Moore, outgoing president, on behalf of the Auxiliary for its fine record and community service. The presentation was made by George Speis, District 3 commander.

Honor guests were past Post commanders and past Auxiliary presidents and representatives from other posts and auxiliaries in the area.

The hall was decorated in pastel colors with artificial birds and parrots suspended from the ceiling. The tables were decorated with snapdragons and assorted spring flowers. Auxiliary members and guests wore corsages of red roses.

Gifts were presented to Mrs. Moore, retiring president; Mrs. Speis, installing officer, and Mrs. Crable, new president. Mrs. Moore presented white note books with the names of each officer inscribed in gold to officers and chairmen who served the past year.

A buffet lunch was served after the installation.

Man's Body Recovered From River

SALISBURY — Police today recovered the body of a man who tried to join some friends by taking a short cut across the Wicomico River.

The drowned man was identified as Francis Lorenzo Walker, 26, a painter.

The body was recovered after police had dragged the river for parts of three days.

Chief William J. Chatham said Walker entered the river Saturday in an apparent attempt to join some friends in a woods on the other side. He was swimming across a 150-foot stretch of river when he got caught in the tide.

Witnesses said Robert Powell threw three life preservers from shore. One came near the man who made a frantic grab, but missed it and went under.

Judge Imposes Maximum Fine Of $2 On Truckers

Magistrate Donald W. Mason imposed the maximum fine of $2 on four truckers after they pleaded guilty to allowing water, sand and gravel to drop from their vehicles onto city streets.

Appearing before Magistrate Mason were Jack T. Thompson, 68 Elder Street; Wilbert G. Lavan, Mt. Savage, who previously was arrested on the same charge on April 16; Conda Shipley, RD 3, Bedford, Pa.; and Frank M. Cessna, 223 Williams Street.

The four were arrested by Officer John Snyder as the city continued its crackdown on the seepage from trucks as they travel city streets.

The move was begun in compliance with a recommendation of the April grand jury with five or six arrests having been made and additional warnings being issued in the past two weeks.

Last Wednesday city officials and representatives of trucking concerns met in the offices of Police Chief R. Emmett Flynn and City Attorney Thomas B. Finan.

The meeting was requested by the trucking firms as they felt they were being discriminated against by excessive arrests and being charged with violation of the city code concerning the seepage from their vehicles onto the city streets.

At that time Finan said the city had no desire to impede or obstruct necessary construction work, but felt that the companies could make greater efforts to correct the conditions as cited in the report of the April grand jury and referred to in complaints by the Garden Club of Cumberland. Finan then recommended that the charges against drivers arrested at that time be dropped; week to find another method to and the firms were granted eliminate the condition.

POLICE GET THEIR MAN — Frank Kirsch, 36, is grabbed by unidentified officers in Pittsburgh after plunging from second floor apartment onto awning after being forced out of his quarters by tear gas. Police said Kirsch went crazy and bit his wife with a club, then chased her into a bar. He later returned to apartment, threw bottles at officers but was subdued with the help of the tear gas. He was hospitalized for observation pending further investigation, officers said. (AP Photofax)

Vegetable Fats Aid Fight On Heart, Artery Ailments

By RENNIE TAYLOR

LOS ANGELES — The possibility of using vegetable fats in the diets of normal persons to protect them from future heart and artery disease was raised yesterday by a widely known medical researcher.

Research in that field so far warrants optimism but it will take a long time to determine whether this can be a standard medical treatment, said Dr. Laurence Kinsell.

Nearly seven years ago Dr. Kinsell demonstrated that the feeding of these fats, which contain dietary substances called essential fatty acids, can reduce the amount of cholesterol in the human blood stream.

A diet heavy in certain vegetable fats and low in animal fats does this consistently in both normal and ailing people and it has improved several cases of artery hardening disease, Dr. Kinsell told reporters.

Dr. Kinsell, who is director of metabolic research at the Highland Alameda County Hospital at Oakland, Calif., addressed the California Medical Assn. yesterday.

Artery clogging and hardening is the most common condition in blood vessel and coronary heart disease, one of the leading causes of death.

Cholesterol is suspected of playing a major part in the formation of the clogging and hardening substances.

Dr. Kinsell reported he has fed about 70 cholesterol-troubled patients a high vegetable fat diet over varying long periods without producing any ill effects. Some of these patients received as much as four or five ounces of vegetable fat in their daily diet.

Some of the patients seem better and their cholesterol levels, which were consistently high at the start, have come down, he said.

U. S. Flood Insurance Slated For Sale Soon

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congress has been told federal flood insurance can be offered to the public "shortly" after it votes 50 million dollars to get the program underway.

Frank J. Meistrell, the federal flood indemnity commissioner, gave this assurance to a House Appropriations subcommittee in asking for the money in closed session April 3. His testimony was made public today.

Congress appropriated half a million dollars last year so a federal-aided flood insurance program could be worked out. Private companies have said the job is too big and risky for them to tackle alone.

Meistrell said it is expected the government will enter into agreements with perhaps as many as half of the 5,000 fire and casualty insurance companies in the country to have them act as government agents in the flood insurance program.

He figured the 50 million dollars would be enough to carry the government expense in letting out three billion dollars worth of flood insurance by the middle of next year.

New York state's forests are now growing 103 per cent more wood than is cut and lost each year.

LaVale Explorers Plan Canoe Trip Down River

A 50-mile trip down the South Branch and the Potomac River is in store for 15 Explorer Scouts of Post 10, LaVale, this weekend.

They plan to make the trip in two days, according to Kenneth M. Stone, Explorer advisor of the Post sponsored by the LaVale Methodist Church. After school on Friday the boys will get their traveling gear in readiness and proceed from the church that evening and will travel by car to Blue Beach, where they will camp for the night.

Bright and early Saturday, of the lads are accomplished handy should they tip over the swimmers, which will come in canoes.

Also going along will be Robert Moreland, assistant advisor and William G. Barger, chairman of Post 10. Stone has the chore of obtaining the canoes from Camp Potomac and taking them to Blue Beach.

By Saturday evening the travelers expect to arrive in the Paw Paw area where they will camp for the night. On Sunday they will continue on to their destination, Little Orleans.

The return trip will be less strenuous for the boys as they will ride by auto. This is the first such trip for the Explorers and according to Stone, they will work toward an historical trail patch, a scouting work award. In order to fulfill necessary requirements for the patch they must also participate in an historical event.

This past Saturday the boys made a test run in the canoes at Camp Potomac near Oldtown. All

Man Indicted For Slaying

WASHINGTON (AP)—A District grand jury indicted Rafael Vega, 29, also known as Sterling Vega, on a second-degree murder charge yesterday in the death of a Maryland man.

Frank L. Fisher, 20, of Towson, Md., was stabbed fatally in a three-man fight here March 18. Vega also was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon on Thomas W. McStay. Police said Fisher and McStay had visited Vega's apartment before the fight broke out in the street nearby.

Three-Year Term Given Tax Evader

BALTIMORE (AP)—Baltimore attorney Arnold H. Ripberger was sentenced in U. S. District Court yesterday to three years imprisonment for failing to file income tax returns for 1953 and 1954.

Ripberger was convicted last week after a trial before Judge Roszel C. Thomsen. Sentencing had been deferred until today, when defense attorney Cornelius Mundy waived a motion for a new trial.

The 37-year-old defendant also served as organist and choir master in several Episcopal churches in this area.

The government contended $1,780 in taxes was due for the two years in question. Ripberger testified during his trial that he had not filed returns because he thought payment had to be made with the returns, and he did not have the money at the time.

Policeman Thinks Police 'Not People'

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—The Bar Assn. magazine "The Shingle" reports on a narcotics peddler being tried before Judge Maurice W. Sporkin.

The judge asked the policeman who made the arrest: "Were the sales of dope made only to the police?"

"No," replied the policeman, "to people, too."

What To Wear—Odd Beach Jacket Has Big Place In The Sun

THE NEWS IN BEACH JACKETS includes toggle-buttoned model (left) in white duck with roomy pockets (arrow) and a "Wind-cheater" (right) of polished cotton.

By DICK KLEINER

NEW YORK (NEA)—It won't be long before it's time for that first dip in the lake (or ocean, depending on your geographical position). And so this is the perfect time for two important steps.

One, learn to swim. Two, check your beach wardrobe. The trunks that fit last summer may, alas, be too tight this year. Avoid embarrassment. Save face. Spend money. Get a nice roomy pair of trunks and be comfortable.

This year, there's something new in the realm of beach jackets. The last couple of summers the cabana sets—matching trunks and beach shirts or jackets—have been popular. They still are, but this summer there's also strong emphasis on the odd beach jacket.

Actually, this is a highly sensible garment. It doubles as a leisure jacket and can be worn on many leisurely occasions. But it's ideal for the beach—comfortable, easily gotten into with a wet skin, good looking.

There are several varieties. Arrow has a toggle-buttoned, white duck job with big pockets, designed for holding sunglasses, cigarettes and a notebook for writing down girls' phone numbers.

One of his major innovations is packaging a matching tie tuck with an evening set of links and studs. Thus, the set need not be confined to dress wear—you can wear the links and tie tuck on non-formal occasions, too. These sets, incidentally, are lovely; many are in onyx, agate and other semi-precious and unusual stones.

Jewelry, in general, is more subdued this year, Press says. That's to go with the more subdued look—the narrow lapels and softer colors. The key word is elegance and there's no place for garish jewelry in an elegant age.

For the man who travels a lot, color-key your luggage to your clothing. That's the word from one manufacturer who is introducing three new luggage colors—India Brown, Palomino and Texas Tan. These are designed to complement the growing popularity of such suit tones as charcoal brown. The idea is to pick your suitcase to match your suit. It's a nice idea, but it could present problems. If you're wearing herringbone, does that mean you have to pack your duds in a sardine can?

Well Fed Burglars

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Hungry burglars ate and stole at the home of the Joseph Danziger family. After making themselves at home in the kitchen the burglars consumed four eggs, some bacon, toast and coffee. When they left the look $407 in cash and $20 worth of clothing.

Scout Ranch Files To Be Shown Here

Films of the 127,000-acre Explorer Scout ranch at Cimaroon, N. M., will be shown Explorer Scouts, leaders and parents tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. in the recreation hall of Centre Street Methodist Church.

Ross Decker, Potomac Council, Boy Scouts of America camp and activities chairman, has scheduled the 35-minute movie to acquaint local scouts with the reservation.

Decker explained that the council is planning to send a minimum of ten Explorer scouts and a unit leader to spend a three-week vacation at the huge ranch site in August. It will be the first time a delegation of the council has ever attended from the Cumberland area.

The national Explorer camp is owned by the Boy Scouts of America and was donated to the scouts by a national oil concern some 15 or 20 years ago.

Decker said the local delegation will leave for the camp by train, enroute visiting Pike's Peak and the Garden of Gods in Colorado, in addition to the ranch visit.

Besides tomorrow's showing here the Philmont movies also will be shown at Oakland Elementary School annex on Thursday at 7:30 p. m. and at Potomac State College auditorium in Keyser on Friday at 7:30 p. m. The Nemaquin Trail District is roundtable for scouts and cubbers will be held at Kelly-Springfield Tire Company conference room today at 7:30 p. m.

Big Lottery Ring Broken

BALTIMORE (AP)—Four squads of racketeers division detectives raided two homes in West Baltimore yesterday, breaking up lottery operations involving more than $25,000 in numbers tickets.

Four men and one woman were arrested and charged with operating lotteries. One suspect was arrested while taking bets in front of his home. All those charged are Negroes.

Police said one of the houses raided was headquarters for 49 numbers' writers and 11 writers operated out of the other house.

Medical Library Site Chosen In Bethesda

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Board of Regents of the National Library of Medicine decided today to establish its new 10 million dollar building in Bethesda, Md.

Chicago had been seeking the new library building and had offered free sites for the structure. The 9,000 volume library is now in Washington, where it has been known as the Army Medical Library.

After George Washington was inaugurated President of the United States he went to the theater to see a performance of "The School for Scandal." He insisted on paying for his own tickets.

Your Horoscope

Look in the section in which your birthday comes, and find what your outlook is, according to the stars.

For Wednesday, May 1st, 1957
MARCH 21 to APRIL 20 (Aries)—Spirits progressive and aggressive action and thinking will put this day on the right side of the ledger. Neglecting the past or fearing the future can make a poor future. Remember that.

APRIL 21 to MAY 21 (Taurus)—While your influences are not particularly stimulating, your fine intuition and sense of values should tell you to keep plugging steadily at worthwhile goals. You will attain them.

MAY 22 to JUNE 21 (Gemini)—Don't be too quick to judge till you know all the facts, and, even then, be considerate and tolerant in your attitude and speech. You can make or break this day through your own approach.

JUNE 22 to JULY 21 (Cancer)—Forget past errors (except to remember not to repeat them when similar situations arise) and give to make this the best day for self improvement in a long while. Build! Build! Build!

JULY 22 to AUGUST 21 (Leo)—Influences generally good for health, feelings. Exercise your innate leadership. Some hours unusually favorable, progressive. Seek rightful goals now.

AUGUST 22 to SEPTEMBER 21 (Virgo)—Where there is a will, you know the rest. Precision, accuracy will help you over the hurdles, which are not as big as they may seem. New opportunities are in the offing; prepare to take advantage of them.

SEPTEMBER 22 to OCTOBER 21 (Libra)—Having regrets, wishing things were different won't solve anything. It is never too late to DO SOMETHING about whatever you think needs changing, improving. Go forward!

OCTOBER 22 to NOVEMBER 21 (Scorpio)—Keep things going smoothly—this means especially when they seem roughest. At other times they will usually take care of themselves. Best use of your abilities, standing by well thought-out decisions urged.

NOVEMBER 22 to DECEMBER 21 (Sagittarius)—Work, think and play to reasonably moderate doses—not too much of one and too little of another. How you handle this day can be important to your future.

DECEMBER 22 to JANUARY 21 (Capricorn)—You may have to curtail your activities or press a little harder, depending upon how you have been doing up until now. This goes for both work and play. Be purposeful, but don't over-reach. Guard principles.

JANUARY 22 to FEBRUARY 21 (Aquarius)—Your planet is more auspiciously aspected today than many others. You may be able to get more out of the day than some, therefore, but much will depend upon your will power. Give your best! It is a lot.

FEBRUARY 22 to MARCH 21 (Pisces)—Here are two hints: you may prove helpful now; take all matters seriously, but not yourself; don't let annoyances get the better of you; smile, instead.

YOUTH BOON TODAY are governed by Taurus, the Bull. Remember how sturdy that bull is. He is honestly stable, mends his own business, yet when infuriated is highly dangerous. Curb your emotions and inclinations.

APRIL 22 to MAY 21 (Gemini)—You are here, then ten more before you get the better of you; smile, instead. Helpful now; take all matters seriously, but not yourself; don't let annoyances get the better of you; smile, instead.

Stadium Plan Funds Ready

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Housing and Home Finance Agency said today it would provide $35,000 to plan a 50,000-seat stadium here as soon as Congress authorizes construction.

A stadium bill approved by the House District Committee is scheduled to come before the House May 13.

The planning funds would be used by the District Armory Board to make engineering and economic studies on building and running the stadium, estimated to cost six million dollars.

Ponies Too Popular

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—Pony rides are being discontinued at the Toledo Zoo. Crowds run 8,000 to 10,000 a day and the five Sheldons just can't accommodate all the children who want to ride them. And, too, says Zoo Director Phil Skeldon, the ponies get such a workout that their appetites would do credit to draft horses.

Malay, spoken by 70 million people, is a foreign language subject in only five universities in the United States.

Blasts Reported Only Torpedoes

City Police said last night that the two explosions last Friday night in North End were only torpedoes used by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad Company.

Chief R. Emmett Flynn said a Baltimore and Ohio Railroad watchman reported the explosions.

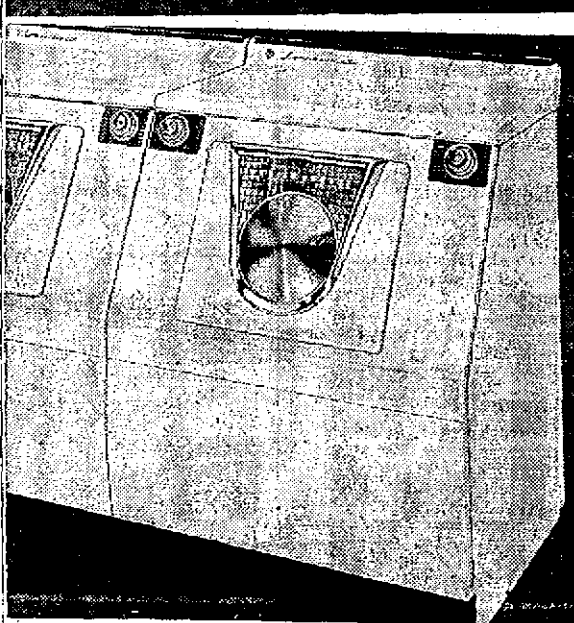

Two of the torpedoes had been placed on the rail in the vicinity of Henderson Avenue and Valley Street and were set off by a passing train.

A railroad on the caboose placed two more torpedoes on the rail. At first police surmised the blasts came from an undetermined type of a fireworks set off presumably by youngsters.

DELUXE! LOW PRICE! WESTINGHOUSE LAUNDROMAT

REVOLVING AGITATOR THAT PASSES THE SAND TEST!

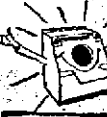

The test: On "Five" TV, 2 cups of sand representing heavy soil are dumped on towels in three well-known center-post agitator washers and in a Revolving Agitator Laundromat. After all complete their cycles, center-post machines leave towels and washers in a sandy mess. Laundromat leaves not a grain of sand in towels or washer.

Washer Cleaner: There's no old-fashioned center-post. Clothes go inside Revolving Agitator which lifts and plunges them 50 times a minute.

Rinses Better: Revolving Agitator lifts clothes while soil and dirty water drain away from them. Center-post machines strain it all back through them.

Cleans Better: Because of its patented design, the Laundromat cleans clothes, then cleans itself—automatically! All sand, suds, lint go down the drain.

Future Calls For Broilers Will Be High

GEORGETOWN, Del. — If every person in New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington eats one more broiler this year than he did last, poultry producers on the Delmarva peninsula would have to increase their output more than 10 per cent.

Twelve families out of every 100 in the northeastern United States did not buy one broiler in 1956. If each of those families bought one broiler per person this year, the peninsula would have to produce 20 million more chickens.

Those were conclusions reported in a statement today by Otis Esham, Parsonsburg, Del. grower and hatcheryman and former president of the Delmarva Poultry Industry, Inc.

Business Briefs

NEW YORK — (INS) — General Motors Acceptance Corporation reported today higher net earnings in the first quarter of the year despite a drop in its purchase of receivables which reflected lower General Motors auto sales. The net, including earnings of Motors Insurance Corporation, was $12,568,761, compared with $11,352,476 in the first quarter of 1956. Retail receivables purchases amounted to $639 as against $872 a year earlier.

BARTLESVILLE, Okla. — (INS) — Phillips Petroleum Company first quarter results were the best in the company's history, with net profit of $28,379,430 on gross income of $296,103,601. A year ago the net was $28,332,238 and gross $258,800,000.

AKRON, Ohio — (INS) — Seiberling Rubber Company sales dropped but net earnings improved in the first quarter. The Ohio company, resisting the profit squeeze found in other firms, reports a net income of $182,542, or 31 cents a share, compared with $176,168, or 29 cents a share, a year earlier. Sales dropped two per cent to $10,501,219.

City May Ask Court Views On Petition

Rulings Would Guide Council Concerning Referendum request

The attorney for the City of Cumberland indicated today that the city is considering asking Circuit Court for a declaratory judgment on various errors and their legal import in connection with petitions calling for a referendum on a $500,000 bond issue.

City Attorney Thomas B. Finan made the statement today after final checks of the petitions revealed that there are 364 signatures where it is thought one person signed for two or more others. A City Hall source said it is apparent that the people whose names appear on the petition are registered but it is also apparent that one person had signed for one or more other than himself.

A report on the complete findings during the check of the petitions is being prepared by city clerk Wallace G. Ullery and will be presented to members of the Mayor and Council. The petition check was conducted by Mrs. Edna Powers junior stenographer in the Civil Service Commission office, and Mrs. Ruth Mangos, registration clerk. For a time, the city also had hired Mrs. Margaret Mangos as typist.

Informal Discussion
An informal discussion on the petitions was held prior to yesterday's meeting of council and it was indicated that another meeting would be held later this week.

Charles Z. Heskett, former city attorney who presented the petitions, has said previously that the group supporting a referendum on the bond sale would not be "counted out" on technicalities and would, if necessary, call every signer before court to have signatures verified.

Unofficial findings in the check also are expected to show the following: There are 1,414 listed as "not countable" including 1,233 not registered on city voting books; duplications amounted to 161.

The check showed that 1,324 names of the 4,015 on the petitions are identical with registration records.

20 Per Cent Needed
Since 20 per cent of the qualified voters must sign the petition, the city must verify 2,548 before a special election can be held.

One city source pointed out that this referendum request is the first faced by the city under its constitutional home rule. Referendums have been held before but always under a direct act by the state legislature.

Because of this and the many points of law involved, it is thought a court decision would be the fairest means of determining the final status of the signatures. Council, in its discussion yesterday, indicated it would "bend over backwards" to allow any of the questionable signatures provided it is within its legal rights.

$850 Awarded In Uncontested Damage Action

The plaintiff in an uncontested damage suit was awarded a decree for $850.00 today in Circuit Court by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Charles L. Harris, 16 Schiller Terrace, sued Kenneth A. Fish, of Fountain City, Ind., as the result of a collision atop Town Hill Mountain last July 8 about 9:30 p.m.

Harris was in the Army at the time and was headed for Fort Dix, N. J. where he was to be discharged. Fish's car was headed west on U.S. Route 50 at the time. The plaintiff said that Fish passed a tractor-trailer at the summit of the mountain and crashed into his car.

Fred Anderson was attorney for Harris.

Stitcher Heads Men Of LaSalle

Frederick D. Stitcher is the new president of the Men Of LaSalle succeeding John J. Long. He and other officers of the organization elected at a meeting last week will be installed Thursday, May 16, at 8 p. m. in Carroll Hall.

Other officers are: Thomas J. Strutz, vice president; George William Loveston, re-elected financial secretary; and Norman F. Geatz Jr., recording secretary.

Trustees are Long and John A. Collins, both for three years; Joseph F. Digilarmo and Emmett A. Daugherty, two years; and Joseph P. Berry and John W. Hodel, one year.

It was announced that the annual communion breakfast will be held after the 8:30 a. m. mass Sunday, May 19.

Comet Viewed

The very clear and moonless sky last night enabled the amateur astronomers to see the Arend-Roland Comet very vividly. One observer, Robert V. Snowden, 424 Central Avenue, described it as a cloud-like light.

UNITED FUND ENDORSED—The Kelly Springfield Tire Company's labor-management committee last week unanimously endorsed the United Fund in acting on a proposal submitted by the Kelly Employees Charity Fund committee. Last year the Kelly Charity fund pledged $17,000 to various fund-raising campaigns and in 1955 the total was $13,000. Members of the labor-management committee, seated left to right, are George Simmons, Division Chairman Local 26; Thomas A. Mond, master mechanic; Herbert Dye, Division Chairman Local 26; James Stein, president, Local 26; H. C. Reed, shift superintendent; William Sheetz, Division Chairman Local 26, and Marie Fletcher, Division Chairman Local 26. Standing left to right are Leo Piquett, shift superintendent; F. T. Bell, personnel manager; C. M. Little, Department 51D chairman; C. I. Nicholson, Division Chairman Local 26; M. E. Dye, negotiating committee; W. G. Cain, Division Chairman Local 26; Leo Carter, negotiating committee; L. M. Bray, personnel department; and Harry Nelson, manager of labor department.

Firm Granted Permit For Bridge Work

The West Virginia Pulp and Paper Company today obtained permission from the Allegany County Board of Commissioners to build a temporary trestle bridge across the Potomac River at Luke.

Horace P. Whitworth Jr., attorney for the company, explained that the bridge would be used to transport building materials to be used in connection with part of the $50,000,000 Luke mill expansion program.

The company purchased a tract of land on the West Virginia side of the stream from the B&O Railroad and a concrete batch plant will be located on the site. The concrete will be moved across the bridge when full-scale construction work starts at the Luke plant.

The commissioners also instructed J. Walker Chapman to erect three 25-mile an hour road signs on the Frog Hollow Road in Eckhart. Commissioner Charles N. Wilkinson asked that similar road signs be erected on the DeHaven Road.

The $5,000 bond of Magistrate Howard R. Stevens at Mt. Savage was approved by the board.

A petition signed by approximately 50 residents of the Dawson area was received asking that the roadway leading from U. S. Route 220 to the Dawson Cemetery be repaired. They asked that ditches be dug and several culverts placed on the roadway.

Plans for the reunion of the Class of 1937 of Allegany High School will be made tomorrow at 7:30 p. m. at the office of the Central Trucking Division of Celanese Corporation.

The committee urged members of the class to attend this session.

"Elijah" Closes Season For Local Choral Society

An impressive performance of Mendelssohn's "Elijah" closed the season for the Cumberland Choral Society last night at Allegany High School auditorium.

Under the direction of Charles L. Sager the chorus sang with fervor and musically understanding. There was dignity without aloofness and projection of the religious character of the oratorio without sanctimoniousness. Although the chorus was reduced some in numbers there was no sacrifice of balance and volume. In the great finale of the first part, "Thanks Be to God," the chorus demonstrated especially its capacity for electrifying projection of emotion.

In the top category of accomplishment last night was the accompaniment at the piano by Mrs. Anne F. Gormer. Her work was consistently helpful, at times positively brilliant, and always a definite factor in the success of the performance.

As Elijah, Raymond Brown (of Penn State University) was a tower of strength dramatically and vocally; Samuel D. Miller, artistically used tenor of considerable natural beauty was at all times appealing; Martha Fink's soprano and Ruth Dorman's contralto reached a high standard of excellence; Jackie Slocomb was delightful as the youth; and Pauline House sang capably as an angel.

In offering such standard classics of the world of choral composition as "Elijah," "The Creation," and "Messiah," Director Sager is performing a real service to the ever-growing music public of the Cumberland area. Last night's carefully prepared and fervidly presented program is an augury of the choral treat in store for next season.—J.W.H.

Ace Humbertson, a member of the Cumberland Municipal Concert Band was elected president of Local 787, American Federation of Musicians, at a meeting recently in the Labor Temple. He succeeds Thomas Smith, who served a number of years in that capacity.

Other officers include Robert Apsey, vice president, and James E. Jimmy Andrews, re-elected secretary-treasurer. Trustees are Ward Cole, Thomas Seifert and Herman Humbertson.

W. Valgene Reuch was chosen delegate to the national convention of the American Federation of Musicians in June in Atlantic City.

The local union represents approximately 130 musicians of this section.

Chest Of Boy Burned By Youth
Another outbreak in the recent rage of "teenage gang war" was reported to City Police yesterday.

Authorities said Mrs. James Angellatta, 27 Henderson Avenue, reported that her son, Frankie, 14, was burned on the chest by a cigarette near the local bus terminal Sunday evening.

Mrs. Angellatta reported that her son was walking near the terminal when another youth, described as being 17-years of age, ordered the boy to button up his shirt at the collar.

When the Angellatta boy refused to button his shirt, the older youth burnt his chest with a cigarette, the report stated.

EASTER SEAL LUCKY BUCKS NEEDED NOW
The next 62 bucks mailed for Easter Seals will be lucky for crippled children in Allegany county because that's the number of dollars needed to make the 1957 seal campaign total $8,200.

Over 23,000 residents of Allegany county received Easter Seals in the mail a month ago, and a check yesterday showed $8,138 had been received in returns at headquarters.

Much more than $9,200 is needed, however, to finance treatment of crippled children in this section, and it is hoped that at least $10,000 will be received this year.

Don't hold back if you have not yet mailed your money for the seals. It's possible that the buck you haven't returned is the dollar that will be needed to reach this year's goal.

Bruce High Dedication Program Set

The program for the dedication of the new Bruce High School at Westernport Friday at 8:15 p. m. was announced today by Ralph R. Webster, superintendent of schools.

The Bruce High Senior Band will open with a selection and Rev. Byron M. Flory, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Westernport, will give the invocation.

Webster will extend greetings and the Bruce High Girls Chorus will sing "Give Me Your Tired, Your Poor."

Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools, will introduce the principal speaker, Dr. R. Lee Hornbake, associate dean of the faculty at the University of Maryland, whose topic will be "When A Community Builds A School."

A selection, "Let Not Your Song End," will be sung by the Girls Chorus.

The keys to the building will be presented to Kenneth E. Sheelz, principal of the school, by Kenneth R. Malcolm, president of the Allegany County Board of Education. The Rev. Flory will give the benediction.

A tour of the building will be held after the program in the auditorium and refreshments will be served in the cafeteria.

April Building Totals $122,096

The building engineer's office issued 25 permits during April including 14 for new construction. A report released today said estimated value of construction was $122,096. The new buildings include eight residences.

The figure brings to $300,466 the total for the first four months compared to $310,125 for the same period last year. Last April permits were valued at $342,150 while last month's total was $93,050.

Local Boy Reported Missing From Home

A 15-year-old local boy has been reported missing to City Police.

Police said Allan Ashby, 15, Frederick Street, left home early yesterday morning after leaving a note telling his parents he was going to run away.

Police said the boy is five-foot ten inches, weighs 130 pounds and was wearing khaki pants, a red shirt and black and white shoes.

HEALTH OFFICER RETIRES—Dr. Winter R. Frantz, who has been city and county health officer, is shown clearing out his desk in Health Department offices in the Public Safety Building today. Dr. Frantz has resigned effective tomorrow. Dr. Frantz has served the Health Department here for many years. Dr. Frantz was named deputy state health officer here in 1943 succeeding Dr. Theodore R. Shrop. But prior to that time had served a number of years as clinician. He served in the deputy post while the late Dr. Joseph P. Franklin was in military service and upon Dr. Franklin's return was named assistant in 1945. Upon Dr. Franklin's death in 1947, Dr. Frantz was named health officer and has served since that time.

State To Open Bids For Work At Frostburg

Improvements Set For Grounds At State Teacher College

The Maryland Department of Public Improvements will open bids Thursday on a contract to improve the quadrangle at Frostburg State Teachers College.

R. Bowen Hardesty, college president, said the contract entails electrical work, steps, step ramps and walks.

He said the number of concrete walks across the quadrangle will be doubled.

To Sod Area
Grass sod will be placed over the entire area which was the former athletic field before the school construction program was undertaken.

Temporary wooden steps will be replaced by concrete steps and nine lights will be placed on standards, most of them near the steps.

The quadrangle is formed by Old Main, the former main college building, the laboratory school, the Science Hall, Conpton Hall and Lowndes Hall, the boys' dormitory, the latter four new structures and the girls' dormitory.

Number Of Bidders
Bidders on the work so far have been: Miller Asphalt Company, McMullen Highway; Liller Construction Company, Cresaptown; John I. Vandegrift Company, and Hout Construction Company, both of Cumberland; Highland Engineering Corporation, Woodbine; State Contracting Company, Baltimore, and the Baughman Construction Company, Annapolis.

At Frostburg today discussing the plans is James L. Reed, supervisor of school plants for the State Department of Education.

He and Hardesty discussed the plans for this contract and for the new athletic field to be placed in the rear of Conpton Hall.

Sign Absence Important In Traffic Case

The absence of a stop sign played an important role in a hearing this morning in Trial Magistrate Court.

Trial Magistrate Donald W. Mason dismissed charges against two local drivers involved in an accident Saturday at the intersection of Fourth Street and Seymour Street.

The drivers, Miss Nancy Taylor, 16, of 216 Milton Place, and James Earl Long, 22, of 27 Lamont Street, collided in the center of the intersection.

Miss Taylor was traveling west on Fourth Street, while Long was traveling north on Seymour, police said.

Magistrate Mason dismissed reckless driving charges against the drivers.

He told attorneys for the defendants that had a stop sign been erected at the intersection the accident might have been avoided.

The magistrate pointed out the absence of stop signs in South End have entered in several cases in his court within the past few months.

In dismissing charges against Long, Magistrate Mason warned the youth that he could have been charged with failing to grant the right-of-way, but was not guilty of reckless driving.

B&O Derailment Delays Traffic

Traffic on the B&O Railroad was delayed several hours last night when three cars of an extra freight eastbound on the main line derailed at 7:10 p. m. three miles east of the Harpers Ferry tunnel.

The freight was from the Shenandoah Valley branch line. No one was injured in the mishap and wreck crews from Brunswick cleared the tracks within a few hours.

Freight traffic was delayed about two hours while the eastbound Metropollitan was held up about an hour and one half. Pps-Beverly Myers, Mrs. June L. Wenger Train No. 1, the National Limited was rerouted by way of Weverton to Hagerstown and thence onto the Western Maryland right of way to Cherry Run and back to the B&O line.

Judge Orders Man Sent To Institution

Ten-Year Sentence Suspended During Treatment Period

Melvin L. Hartman, 49-year-old local man, today was ordered committed to the Patuxent Institution for mental therapy upon an order signed by Associate Judge Morgan C. Harris.

Hartman had been convicted (two weeks ago of carnal knowledge of a 13-year-old girl. Judge Harris imposed a sentence of 10 years in the state penitentiary on the charge and then explained that the Patuxent Institution had been set up to help persons who are emotionally unstable and as a result become involved in sexual crimes. The prison term is suspended to allow for the treatment at the institution.

Dr. Richard W. Trevasakis Jr., local psychiatrist, testified at today's session of Circuit Court concerning his psychiatric examination of Hartman last Friday. The examination was made upon order of Judge Harris.

Dr. Trevasakis said that Hartman's history shows he has a "spotty" work record, a low level of education and is a chronic schizophrenic. The psychiatrist said Hartman had hallucinations and "voices" crying out to him, particularly at night. Dr. Trevasakis also said Hartman denied he was guilty of the charge for which he was convicted.

The doctor said Hartman knows right from wrong but is dangerous to the community, particularly children, if left at large. He said Hartman needs psychiatric care.

Judge Harris said the crime for which Hartman was convicted is a revolting one and shows a "deep-rooted facet of his personality." The court said the Patuxent Institution can give him psychiatric treatment and make annual reports to Circuit Court here as to his condition. The man can seek a hearing in the future on whether or not he is a defective delinquent.

PTA Council Hears Foote

Theodore R. Foote, supervisor of art instruction for the Allegany County Board of Education, was principal speaker at the regular meeting of the County PTA Council last night at Parkside School, LaVale.

Foote emphasized the role of art in the lives of school children and said a child should be encouraged to use his own initiative as a means of self expression.

Miss Margaret Doak, Parkside principal and PTA productions chairman, announced that the two plays sponsored by the council for elementary children next year will be "Dick Whittington's Remarkable Cat," and "Pinochio."

Centre Street and Corriganville schools were selected to send delegates to the summer conference at the University of Maryland under council sponsorship. Cresaptown School was selected as alternate.

Mrs. Benjamin Lewis, vice president, announced that a PTA workshop will be held Thursday, May 23, at Frostburg State Teachers College with registration from 7 to 7:30 p. m. Fields to be covered include juvenile protection, program planning, conducting a model meeting and membership, life membership and scholarship.

Mrs. Calvin Keiter, character and spiritual education chairman, spoke on "A Graduation Gift."

Mrs. Lawrence Shaffer, president and Mrs. Lester Reed were named delegates to the national PTA conference in Cincinnati May 17-19.

Earl Manges led the salute to the flag. Entertainment was provided by a trombone trio composed of Larry Shaffer, Fred Sammel and Charles Diehl.

13 Take Civil Service Exams

Thirteen applicants took examinations for city positions as fireman, policeman and warehouse clerk at Fort Hill High School last night.

Included were three for fireman, and five each for police and warehouse clerk, according to Wallace G. Ullery, city clerk and secretary to the commission. Ullery said the commission meets at its City Hall office today at 7 p. m. to score the examinations.

Conducting the tests last night were Fred E. Ryan, chairman, and Francis A. Kenney, member of the commission.

Sears Manager Lands City Firemen's Work

C. W. Seasholtz, manager of the Sears-Roback Company store which was damaged by fire last Thursday, has praised the efforts of local firemen in a letter to Fire Chief Virgil A. Parker.

Seasholtz said their action spoke highly of the calibre of men and training. The store manager also praised assistant chief Robert Long whose quick action, he said, saved the store and landlord considerable damage.

Plane Makes Landing On Grid Field

Passengers Escape Serious Injury; Ball Game Delayed

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Maryland and Wake Forest baseball players looked on yesterday to see a two-engine airplane bearing down on them on the University of Maryland campus. The plane piloted by Russell A. Grass of Alexandria, Va., crashed moments later on the football practice field. It had just taken off from the College Park Airport a mile away. Lt. James Baxter of the university police force said the pilot and three passengers escaped serious injury. The passengers were Curtis L. Ivey, Fred Kozak Sr., and Kozak's 6-year-old son, Fred Jr., all of Alexandria. The plane's landing gear snagged 30 to 40 feet of wire fence as it came in for the emergency landing. Lt. Baxter said one engine had quit. The Piper Apache rested on its nose afterward but did not burn. The game was delayed 15 minutes—with Maryland battling in the fifth—for the accident. Wake Forest went on to a 15-0 victory.

Two Honored By Island Church

TANGIER ISLAND, Va. (AP)—Two men who were instrumental in locating a doctor and constructing a health clinic here have been made honorary members of the congregation of Swain Memorial Methodist Church. The congregation elected Edgar J. Fisher of Richmond, executive director of the Virginia Council on Health and Medical Care, and Monroe Bush, assistant to the president of the Old Dominion Foundation, to membership Sunday night. Bush is an Episcopalian and Fisher a Presbyterian. Swain Memorial is the only church on this Chesapeake Bay island.

Three Youths Arrested In Theft Cases

City Police last night cleared up a number of breaking and enterings which have occurred in Cumberland during the past few weeks.

Det. Joseph Sticher cleared the cases with the arrest of three local boys who have admitted the robberies.

Det. Sticher said one of the 14-year-old boys admitted being implicated in five of the cases while the other two participated in one burglary.

The trio admitted entering the home of Thomas Harbaugh, 425 Franklin Street, Sunday night and taking a child's piggy bank which they claimed contained about $8, a purse, several packs of cigarettes and a key case.

Det. Sticher said the keys were found later Sunday night in an alley at the rear of Shriver Avenue. Last night one of the boys took police to another spot in an alley near Shriver Avenue and located the woman's purse which the trio had thrown away, the police officer said. All belongings in the purse were intact, he stated, adding that approximately $3.86 of the money also had been recovered.

Attempted entries were made at 502 Holland Street where a window at the rear of the house was discovered broken beneath the window latch.

Another attempt was made at 709 Shawnee Avenue where a screen was removed from a rear window and the window pried up several inches. Police said several flower pots on the window ledge in the house were not moved, however, and the boys did not gain entrance there.

Det. Sticher said only one of the boys admitted participating in these attempts.

The boy also said he broke into a residence at 618 Shriver Avenue, Friday night, entering through a cellar window and ransacking the house. Dennis A. Griffin, who lives there, reported about $12 worth of pennies taken, but the boy told police he got only about $6.

On Saturday night a house at 419 Columbia Street also was broken into by the one 14-year-old boy. He ransacked the place, Det. Sticher said, and the occupants reported about $10 worth of costume jewelry missing. Del. Sticher said, however, the jewelry was recovered by the owners yesterday in weeds in the rear of the home where the boy apparently had thrown it.

Borchering Named FHA Head

WASHINGTON (AP)—Baltimore businessman Charles H. Borchering Sr. has been appointed director of the Federal Housing Administration for Maryland and will take office May 13.

Attorney Plans To Draft Laws On Atomic Use

FEDERALSBURG, Md. (AP)—Atty. Gen. C. Ferdinand Sybert says he will draft legislation designed to protect Marylanders against possible hazards from operation of atomic facilities in the state.

In a speech before the Rotary Club here last night, Sybert said the State would plan now for protecting the health and welfare of its citizens while atomic energy is being developed for private uses. Sybert urged an immediate study of industrial uses of nuclear energy planned for the state.

Former Barton Resident Dies

CLARKSBURG—Frederick W. Schroath, 49, Bridgeport, died Sunday after becoming ill on the Kingwood Country Club golf course.

Mr. Schroath, a local automobile dealer, was playing golf with three friends when he became ill. He was pronounced dead on arrival at a Kingwood hospital. A native of Barton, he was a son of the late Leonard and Lucy Ann (Hagerman) Schroath.

For more than 15 years prior to 1946, Mr. Schroath was assistant superintendent of the Carbide and Carbon Co., plant at Diamond. He left that position to come here to enter the automobile business.

He was a member of the Bridgeport Methodist Church, Saline Lodge 127, AF&M of Malden, also its past master; Mizrah Lodge of Perfection, Nemesis Temple, of Parkersburg, the Clarksburg Chapter, Knights of Rose Croix, the Central West Virginia Shrine Club, the Elks Lodge, the Civitan Club, the Maple Lake Club and the Bridgeport Country Club.

He is survived by his widow, Carolyn Louise Ervin Schroath; a daughter, Carolyn Ann, a student at West Virginia University; a son, Frederick W. Schroath, at home; a brother, Alfred Schroath, of 220 Washington Avenue, and a sister, Mrs. Grace Stone, of Malden.

The body is at the Davis Funeral Home here. Services will be conducted tomorrow at the funeral home.

Plane Failure Studied At Flying Field

Radar Operator Bails Out Over Bay; Pilot Lands Safely

DOVER, Del. (AP)—An investigation was under way at Dover Air Force Base here today into the cause of mechanical failure of an airplane which caused the radar operator to bail out into Chesapeake Bay.

First Lt. William W. Welcelan, radar operator in a two-seat F94 single-engine jet piloted by Capt. Bernard Flory, bailed out yesterday at 15,000 feet. He dropped into the bay off Maryland's Eastern Shore just 30 feet from a fishing boat, which picked him up.

The Navy said, at the Patuxent Naval Air Test Center, that Capt. Flory began suffering from a lack of oxygen at 40,000 feet because of mechanical failure.

"We made a snap roll," Lt. Welcelan said, "then began diving for the ocean. I knew that the pilot was having trouble due to lack of oxygen, since he was quite incoherent when he spoke to me over the plane's radio."

Capt. Flory later brought the plane out of the spin and flew it back to Dover without its canopy, lost when the radar operator ejected himself from the plane.

Lt. Welcelan was brought to shore by fishermen at Secretary in Dorchester County, at the mouth of the Choptank River. From there, he was taken by helicopter to Patuxent, given a thorough checkup at the Navy hospital, then flown back to Dover in a Navy plane.

Professor At University Will Retire

BAITMORE (AP)—Dr. George Boas will retire this spring, at 65, as professor of the history of philosophy at Johns Hopkins University.

The Guggenheim Foundation announced this week that he had been awarded a fellowship to work on a book dealing with the presuppositions of Aristotle. Dr. Boas will leave for Europe to work on the project after his retirement.

An outspoken critic of isolationism in foreign policy, Boas roundly criticized the Neutrality Act in 1941 and was vice chairman of the Maryland branch of the Committee to Defend America by Aiding the Allies.

Dr. Boas also was outspoken in defense of academic freedom and headed a drive to raise $40,000 for the defense of Owen Lattimore in 1953.

He took his PhD at the University of California and also taught there. He served in the Army during World War I and in the Navy during World War II.

Westernport Homemakers Hold Meeting

WESTERNPORT — Kenneth Sheetz, principal of Bruce High School, was the principal speaker at the recent monthly meeting of the Westernport Homemakers Club at the Trinity Methodist Church. He gave a talk on "Home" and read poems appropriate to home life. Mrs. Vernon Frye, chairman of Family Life, was in charge of the program and introduced Sheetz. Mrs. Martin Weakley spoke on Oklahoma, its flower and state bird, "The Flycatcher." The collect was read by Mrs. C. E. Hickerson. Mrs. William Dunlap was elected a delegate and Mrs. Harry Harris, alternate. To the Rural Women's Short Course to be held at the University of Maryland, College Park, in June. The club decided to hold an all-day sewing meet at the home of Mrs. John Clabaugh, Luke, Thursday beginning at 10:30 a.m. Each member will bring her own lunch and Mrs. Clabaugh will provide soft drinks. The members sang "O Sacred Heart" and "Oklahoma" with piano accompaniment being provided by Mrs. Harry Pence. Mrs. Caroline Timberlake, College Park, was a guest. Refreshments were served by Mrs. William Dunlap, Mrs. William Hopkins, Mrs. Kemper Cline and Mrs. Martin Weakley. The next meeting will be held Friday, May 24, at Trinity Church. Hostesses will be Mrs. Ernest Wilson, Mrs. Harry Pence, Mrs. Evan, DeWitt and Mrs. Frances Dayton.

Mt. City Annual Fishing Rodeo Scheduled May 4-5

FROSTBURG — The annual fishing rodeo for children under 14 years of age will be held at the pumping station on the West Side of Big Savage Mountain Saturday and Sunday, according to an announcement by Mayor Joseph James this morning.

The rodeo is sponsored by the Allegany-Garrett County Sportsmen's Association each spring. Herbert Knepp, secretary of the organization, states that a group of members will release over 400 large trout in the reservoir late this week, and only children under 14 will be permitted to fish there on the two days set aside.

Youngsters wishing to participate in this affair should turn in at the summit of Big Savage Mountain, taking the dirt road to the foot of the mountain. The reservoir lies at the foot of the mountain, directly off the dirt road.

The rodeo will start at 8 a. m. Saturday, continuing until sundown, beginning at 8 a. m. Sunday and ending at dusk.

Mayor James stated emphatically that persons over 14 years of age will not be permitted to fish at the reservoir during the rodeo.

Brief Mention Raymond Taylor, Nikep; Mrs. Harry Twigg, 2905 Yorkway, Dunk and James Hadley, Lonaconing, have been admitted to Miners Hospital as medical patients.

Keyser High, Charles Town Bands Feted

KEYSER — Keyser High School and Charles Town High School bands, both Class A schools, received a I Division rating at the regional band festival held here Saturday.

Romney received a I Division, Petersburg a II Division and Musselman a III Division in the Class B schools. Harpers Ferry and Capon Bridge received a I and a III Division rating, respectively.

The bands were auditioned by Dr. Ward K. Cole of Frostburg State Teachers College. Each band played two or three selections according to schedule.

Nunzio Barbera, director of the Keyser High band, expressed his gratitude and appreciation to the Chamber of Commerce for making the band festival possible. The expenses included the adjudicator's fee and a lunch for all the band students at the cafeteria. He commended the various committees which are as follows:

Coach John P. Shelton, parking buses; Coach Joseph Stanislawczyk, room assignment; Mrs. Frank Calentine, feeding; Miss Jean Emily Frost, hall and auditorium traffic; Mrs. Carl E. Ayers, cafeteria; Frank Calentine, publicity; Mrs. W. W. Schofield, typing and correspondence and Principal Parker C. Black.

Meter Receipts Listed Receipts from Keyser's parking meters for the week ending Saturday amounted to $326.59. City Clerk Carl F. Theis said.

In a unique contest announced today by the Laurel race track, some fortunate person (could be persons) has a chance to win a $5,000 U.S. Savings Bond. It is called the $5,000 parlay and is open to all amateur handicappers.

This is how it works. The races selected for the contest are the eight to be held tomorrow and the eight scheduled for Friday. When a patron enters the track tomorrow, he or she will be handed an entry slip. It will be in two parts, the first to be dropped into the entry box prior to the first race. The patron retains the other half for use on Friday, when he will go through the same procedure.

If a person selects all 16 winners, he receives the $5,000 Savings Bond; 15 winners, $4,000 bond; 14 winners, $3,000 bond; 13 winners, $2,000 bond, and a $1,000 bond for the most winners picked, be it from one to 12.

Thus, someone in the Laurel enclosure tomorrow and Friday seems certain to win at least a $1,000 bond.

At any rate, only one prize will be given—that to the person selecting the most winners. The maximum prize will be $5,000; the minimum, $1,000.

Sports Keg Residue

Pittsburgh Post-Gazette sports editor Al Abrams quotes Washington catcher Clint "Scraper" Courtney as saying that Mickey Mantle has become swell-headed.

Courtney, a teammate of Mickey when the two were at Kansas City, said that last year he sort of rooted for Mantle to break Babe Ruth's home run record, "but now I hope he doesn't hit 20 home runs." Notice how he throws that bat away or tosses his helmet when he strikes out or fails to hit. He never did that before. He must think it's against the law for a pitcher to get him out. . . . The Baltimore Colts will conduct a spring tryout session May 11 at Clifton Park in the Monumental City. . . . The drill will consist of foot races and a display of fundamental skills.

Any football player who thinks he has the ability to play pro ball is invited to contact either head coach Webb Ewbank or talent scout Keith Molesworth at the Colt office for complete details. . . . Gridders impressing the Colt coaches will be tendered contracts and invited to the team's summer camp at Westminster on July 29. . . . The Colts will also put on a free clinic for high school coaches of the area on May 25 at Loyola College. . . . Ewbank will be assisted by Charley Winner, Herman Ball, John Bridgers and Bob Shaw, all members of the Colt coaching staff. . . . Area coaches interested in attending should contact Julian Dyke, coach at Forest Park and president of the Baltimore Public School Coaches Association, the sponsoring organization. . . . There's a shortage of competent baseball umpires throughout the nation to officiate in sandlot leagues and tournaments. . . . That's why the National Baseball Congress has set up machinery to enlist and train upwards to 5,000 arbiters in its 1957 National Association of Umpires. . . . Individuals who are interested in taking up umpiring for membership in the association should contact National Baseball Congress, Wichita, Kansas. . . . Remmelaar Polytechnic Institute has outdugging twins on its baseball team, juniors Jim and John Allen. . . . Sometimes Jim leads off, and sometimes John. . . . Jim lettered in football as a sophomore but John was out with a broken ankle. . . . Last baseball season, John won a letter but Jim was sidelined with mono-nucleosis. . . . Swimming star Johnny Weismuller and Cinema Pools, Inc. of Studio City, Calif. have signed a contract to market low-cost pools internationally. The Weismuller pool will be manufactured in three sizes—12 by 27 feet, 16 by 34 feet and 20 by 40 feet. . . . This revolutionary idea in pools which has been developed by an outstanding group of engineers will make it possible for a family to own a pool which will sell for under $2,000.

Hot Stove Circuit To Meet Friday

Confident Sugar Thinking In Terms Of Kayo

Ex-Champ's Hopes High For Title Go At Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—"Why go 15 rounds if you only have to go one?"

Sugar Ray Robinson authored this pearl of wisdom yesterday in a press interview following his final three-round boxing drill for tomorrow night's title rematch with middleweight champion Gene Fullmer.

Although the man who has held the 160-pound crown three different times didn't come right out and predict a knockout, it was evident that he was thinking in that direction. All he would say for the record was "My hopes are high, very high."

Writers Unimpressed
Boxing writers who watched the 35-year-old New Yorker go through the motions, weren't overly impressed. They still remembered his failure to cope with the sturdy bully boy from West Jordan, Utah, in their Jan. 2 match at Madison Square Garden.

Reports persisted that Robinson plans to retire from the ring if he fails to regain the title.

As Robinson finished his pre-fight work, the odds reportedly dipped from 3 to 1 favoring Fullmer to about 2 to 1.

Fullmer, who ended his training with a rugged five-round drill Saturday, was hidden away at a country club, waiting for time to go into town for Wednesday's noon weigh-in.

"In 15 rounds I got a pretty good idea of what he has to offer," said Fullmer. "But then you never know what the other fellow will do in the ring. I've kicked him once, and with faith in the Lord, I'll lick him again."

Rush Still Awaited
The Chicago branch of the International Boxing Club still was waiting for the predicted last minute ticket rush at Chicago Stadium. With the house scaled to a $25 top, the box office reported an advance sale of $97,000. A gate of $150,000 was expected although Jim Norris, IBC president, still talked of a crowd of 14,000 and receipts of $175,000. Their Jan. 2 bout drew 18,134 and a gate of $184,645.

The bout will be televised and broadcast nationally (ABC 9 p. m. EST). Chicago and a 150-mile surrounding area will be blacked out on TV.

With $100,000 for TV rights and the money from the gate, Fullmer and Robinson each should get about $65,000 as they are signed to contracts calling for 30 per cent each.

The Illinois Athletic Commission will instruct the referee who will work the 15-round match to call fouls for any signs of rabbit punching or holding in a clinch. As the bout will be scored on the "five-point must" system, a foul could cost a man points. The winner of each round gets five points and the loser four, three and so on. Even rounds are scored 5-5.

Calumet Team Choice In Trial

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Six 3-year-old colts, each with designs on greater glory and riches, get their final lightener for the 83rd Kentucky Derby in the mile of the $15,000-added Derby Trial at Churchill Downs today.

This annual springboard for America's glamor race, from which either the winner or second place horse has gone on to a Derby triumph in nine of the 19 runnings, was considered a lock-up for the powerful Calumet Farm entry of Gen. Duke and Iron Liege at odds of 2 to 5.

The Calumet team was rated over Derby hopefuls Federal Hill Man Up Stairs, Indian Creek and Better Bee.

Capital Golfers Register Sweep

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—Washington golfers swept all four divisions of the Middle Atlantic PGA amateur tournament at Bethesda Country Club yesterday.

Harry Griesmer, the host pro, was last man in with the low score.

Griesmer had a 71 over the par 70 course to win the pro sweepstakes over Cas Tiso of Bonnie View in Baltimore and Frank Tenney of White Flint. They had 72.

Ralph Bogart, six-time Maryland amateur champion from Chevy Chase and Porky Culimane, captain of the Georgetown U. golf team, tied for low amateur with 72.

Deane Beman, U. of Maryland freshman from the host club, and Lt. Warren Bailey of Ft. Lee, Va., had 73.

Ross Now Fighting Battle To Cure Dope Addiction

By JOHN BARRINGTON
INS Sports Editor

NEW YORK (INS)—Barney Ross has been fighting most of his life—in the ring, as a Marine on Guadalcanal and then in an heroically successful battle to "kick" the dope habit.

Now the former lightweight, junior welterweight and welterweight champion is rolling up his sleeves, spitting on his hands and plunging into a new fight like an old warrior returning to the fray.

Barney is preparing to tour the country with his wife, Cathy, in behalf of his as yet unreleased movie biography, "Monkey On My Back." The release is being held up because the censors of the Motion Picture Association of America—feel some of the narcotics addiction scenes are too realistic.

"Pretty Shocking"
"I admit I'm pretty shocking," said Ross. "I could hardly stand to watch Cameron Mitchell, who plays me, when they were shooting some of the scenes. But that's what I want. I want everyone to realize the horrors of dope addiction. . . . If they did they wouldn't even consider taking it that first time."

United Artists, which is releasing the film, distributed another on the narcotics theme, "Man with the Golden Arm," without the MPAA seal of approval, and Ross hopes that this one, too, will hit the screens "just as it is."

"I kept the story from the movies for a long time," said Ross, "until I finally found a producer, Eddie Small, who had guts enough to do it the right way."

Note Of Hope
While the picture stresses its warning against getting "hooked" by narcotics, there is a note of hope, too—that the habit can be cured, as in Barney's case, with a great deal of will power and the proper encouragement.

"I had encouragement from a lot of wonderful people," said Ross, who spent four months in the Federal Hospital at Lexington, Ky., as a voluntary patient. He's been off it for ten years now and "I haven't even taken a chance on an aspirin tablet."

Barney was hooked while hospitalized with wounds received in action on Guadalcanal, where he was awarded the Silver Star.

Repaying All Money
"I found that morphine eased the pain," he recalled, "and after that I scrounged it from aid kits or wherever I could get it."

Practice Schedule

Paw Paw Nine Nips Berkeley In 4-2 Battle

With southpaw Phil Hamilton turning in a four-hit performance and striking out six, the Paw Paw High Pirates sprang a baseball surprise in the Potomac Valley Conference yesterday by turning back Berkeley Springs, 4 to 2, at Paw Paw. The win was Hamilton's third straight and the loss was the first for Berkeley's Gary Henry who also twirled a four-hitter.

Paw Paw has won three and lost two in PVC play, while Berkeley's record is 5-2. In addition to his sterling mound work, Hamilton was the only player to get more than one hit. He had four.

Moorefield's Yellow Jackets, leading with a 5-0 record, and a 27-game victory streak since the 1954 season, tackle Circleville today.

Elk Garden, the other unbeaten PVC team, will be shooting for its fifth consecutive win when it faces Romney 10-4 at Romney.

Keyser (5-1) is billed to play the Vikings at Petersburg, Capon Bridge (6-1) visits Mathias and Southern's Highlanders from Garrett County collide with winners Fort Ashby on the latter's field.

King Archie May Draw Suspension

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich. (AP)—The president of the National Boxing Assn. says light heavyweight champion Archie Moore may face an immediate suspension unless there is definite word by tomorrow on his proposed title defense in Detroit June 7 against Tony Anthony.

Floyd Stevens, NBA president, said he planned to confer in Chicago tomorrow with James D. Norris and Truman Gibson of the International Boxing Club about Moore's next defense.

"If I can't get a definite answer then," Stevens said, "we'll vacate the title. We've been patient with Archie and now we're fed up."

Fort Hill Wins Track-Field Twin Bill, Snyder Sets Mark

Tom Snyder broke his own discus record for Fort Hill High as the Sentinel track teams won a doubleheader meet yesterday at the Stadium. The varsity team swept all 12 events in a lopsided 114-30 victory over Beall and the Jaycees topped Keyser's varsity, 91 to 53.

Snyder set the school discus mark in the Handley Invitational with a heave of 138 feet, 4 inches. Yesterday his toss went two inches farther. The previous record was Gene Weber's 132 feet, 8 inches.

Danny Webster and Mike McCullough chalked up "doubles" for the Sentinels. Webster won the 100-yard dash in 10.3 seconds and the 220 in 23.3 seconds. McCullough high jumped 5 feet, 4 inches and leaped 18 feet, 11 inches to capture first place in the broad jump.

Fort Hill's Jaycees outscored Keyser's varsity 65 to 35 in the track events and 26 to 18 in the field contests. The Jaycees won seven first places to Keyser's five.

Keyser, however, had a pair of double winners. Steele copped the century in 11.1 seconds and the 220 in 24.3 seconds while Norman Groves threw the discus 111 feet, 3 inches and also paced the shot putters with a heave of 39 feet, 5 inches.

Red Sox-Nat Swap May Be Help To Both

WASHINGTON (AP)—Fingers were crossed in Boston and Washington today as a result of the first major trade since the 1957 baseball season opened two weeks ago.

In Boston, the question was whether a change of scenery will benefit southpaw Dean Stone, late of the Senators. If so, he could be just the man for the Red Sox, who are sorely lacking in left-handers.

In Washington, the fans were eager to see if Faye Throneberry and Mill Bolling could rectify glaring weaknesses at center field and shortstop, respectively.

Stone, Chalkales To Boston
These were the key men in the two-for-three swap, entailing no cash, announced yesterday.

The Senators sent Stone and right-handed pitcher Bob Chalkales to Beantown in return for Throneberry, Bolling and Russ Kemmerer, a right-handed hurler who spent last year with San Francisco of the Pacific Coast League.

The exchange culminated months of dickering between brothers-in-law Calvin Griffith, president of the Senators, and Joe Cronin, general manager of the Red Sox.

Griffith said he had been angling for two months to land the three players dispatched by Boston.

"Will Help Both"
Cronin said at Boston the players involved "will provide help to both."

Mike Higgins of Boston said at Kansas City the Red Sox would "be greatly improved as a team" if Stone and Chalkales deliver.

"I'm keeping my fingers crossed," he said.

Mel Parnell and rookie Jack Spring have been Higgins' only left-handers, and Parnell is on the disabled list with a bad elbow.

Charley Dressen, the Senator manager, said at Cleveland he was all set to use Throneberry at center field and Bolling at shortstop. The Senators play the Indians tonight, and Dressen said: "I only hope they get here before game time."

Dick Armstrong Led To Ministry By 'New Feeling'

PRINCETON, N. J. (AP)—He had a promising baseball career with the Baltimore Orioles — then he quit to enter the ministry. Why?

Dick Armstrong, 33, a former varsity baseball player at Princeton University and minor league veteran, thought a moment.

"I felt a new feeling that came over me with a positive force," said Armstrong, "a compulsion that completely dominated me."

He responded by resigning as public relations director of the Baltimore Orioles baseball team and enrolling at Princeton Theological Seminary.

Now in his second year, the young ex-athlete can look back with more assurance. He had to give up his home, a steady salary and a promising future.

A month after moving to Princeton his son Ricky died of leukemia. The Armstrongs wanted him to live long enough to see his new home. "And he did," said Armstrong.

"This experience alone gave us a tremendous faith in God," Armstrong said.

A member of the Princeton class of 1947, Armstrong has called on his varied experience to help support his family. He is a part-time assistant to Dr. James Quay, vice president of the seminary. A former cop and plans director for a Philadelphia advertising agency, he even does some free-lance writing.

He also worked as a television radio producer and recently produced "The Eagle's Nest," a show devoted to the Philadelphia Eagles football team.

And there's still an Armstrong in the major leagues — his father, Herb, who is business manager of the Orioles.

LaSalle Wins City Dux Title

LaSalle High's Explorers are the champions of the City Scholastic Bowling League, winding up with a 3-0 shutout over Allegheny yesterday at the Savoy.

Eleven LaSalle pin spillers participated in the final match and none figured in all three games. Tim Felten paced the scorers with a 187 followed by Tommy Joyce 173 and Bill Blake 172. Paul Ossip topped 300 maples in three games for Allegheny and Milton Stein's 141 was high for a single game.

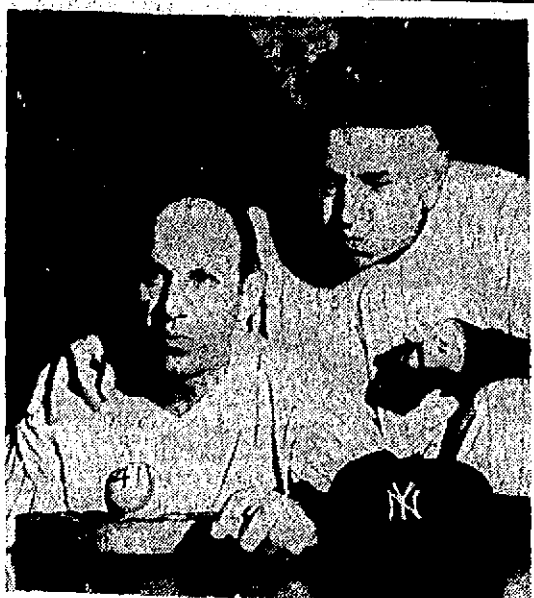

LaSalle wound up the season with a 16-8 record. The Explorers won nine out of 12 games from Allegheny and 7 out of 12 from Fort Hill.

Tommy Joyce's 604 for three games and 288 for a single game in the opening match of the season against Fort Hill on February 11 stood up as the best records during the 1957 season.

Fort Hill and Allegheny will meet in the final league match on the Diamond alleys next Monday at 4 p. m.

Chair League Meets

The schedule will be approved and rosters submitted when the Rocking Chair Softball League meets Friday, 8 p. m., at the Outdoor Club. The nine-team circuit will open its season next Tuesday with four games.

East Meets West Today In Major League Action

By FRED DE LUCA

NEW YORK (INS)—Contrary to the old refrain that goes "East is East and West is West" . . . today the twain shall meet.

The meetings will be in major league cities as the two circuits open their first East-West battles of the season with the National League Western teams on the road and the American League Eastern teams invading the Western badlands.

The big question in the National League is how long the Milwaukee Braves can continue playing torrid .900 ball away from the friendly confines of County Stadium.

In the junior circuit, the question to be answered is whether the world champion New York Yankees can cut the front-running Chicago White Sox down to size when they meet for three games this weekend.

Lopez Confident
Al Lopez, the new leader of the Pale Hose, is quietly confident that this will be the year the White Sox break the Yankee stranglehold on first place.

On the other hand, Fred Haney, field boss of Milwaukee's rambling Braves, is rather outspokenly positive that his men won't fold this year.

Haney, whose Braves face the New York Giants and 20-game winner Johnny Antonelli tonight, says his 1957 team is better than the one which lost the pennant to the Brooklyn Dodgers by only one game a year ago.

"I think they'll find it tougher beating us this year," said Haney yesterday.

"We're a better team because they'll have to beat us; we're not going to help them."

After the two-game series at the Polo Grounds, the Braves move to Pittsburgh for three games before entering Ebbets Field for single games Sunday and Monday with the Dodgers.

Cards At Pittsburgh
The Brooks will entertain the Chicago Cubs this evening with 40-year-old Sal Maglie shooting for his second win of the year.

St. Louis, led by Stan Musial and his sizzling .500 batting average, visits Pittsburgh while Cincinnati's befuddled Redlegs, who have lost all six of the games they have played with Milwaukee, hope for better things against Philadelphia.

In the American League, Casey Stengel is pointing his Yankees for the White Sox.

"I'm afraid the White Sox are going to give me the most trouble," says Casey. "Maybe Cleveland is stronger on pitching, but from what I've seen and know Chicago appears to have the best all-around strength."

"First of all, Chicago is closest to me in speed and that shortstop (Luis Aparicio) is even better than he was last year. Their pitchers are good enough but he makes them better."

"What's more," Casey continued, "their power is solid and Lopez and the coaches know what's going on. I know because they used to work for me."

While the Yankees play at Detroit today, the White Sox entertain Baltimore. The Boston Red Sox, who picked up veteran hurlers Bob Chalkales and Dean Stone from Washington yesterday, play tonight at Kansas City. The Senators, who got righty Russ Kemmerer, outfielder Faye Throneberry and shortstop Mill Bolling in the deal, are at Cleveland.

Knicks To Have NBA's Tallest

NEW YORK (INS)—The way the New York Knickerbockers are rebuilding, they may have the tallest team in the National Basketball Association next season.

The Knicks purchased Willie Gardner, the 6-foot-8 rebounder of the Harlem Globetrotters, for an estimated $25,000 yesterday. The 22-year-old Gardner has never played college basketball and joined the Trotters in 1954 after being graduated from Crispian Attucks High School in Indianapolis.

Besides Gardner, the Knicks also have 6-8 draftee Charles Tyra, 6-6 Mel Hutchins, 6-11 Ray Felix, 6-9 Ken Sears and 6-10 Phil Jordan.

Derby To Be Top Test For Great Horses

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP)—Kentucky hardboots scratched their heads today and calculated that Saturday's running of the 83rd Kentucky Derby will be a right smart horse race. Five members of a small field rate something more than passing consideration for the major share of the $125,000 added purse.

The hardboots, those men steeped in the knowledge of the thoroughbred from the nearby Blue Grass country, searched their memories without success in an attempt to find a comparable Derby in at least the last 20 years.

Great horses have won this mile and one-quarter show piece of American racing for 3-year-olds and great horses also have failed, as did Nashua in 1955 and Native Dancer in 1953. But the men who talk of the thoroughbred almost with reverence can't recall when any Derby had so many top contenders.

Out at Churchill Downs where the stars of the show are going through their final preps, in hotel lobbies where the vanguard of an expected crowd of 100,000 began hooping it up, in fact wherever two or more gathered they talked of:

1. Gen. Duke and Iron Liege, the favored entry who'll try to give Mrs. Gene Markey's Calumet Farm a one-two finish as did Citation and Countdown in 1948.

2. Bold Ruler, Chief Eastern hope from Mrs. H. C. Phipps' Whitley Stable.

3. Travis M. Kerr's speedy Oklahoma-owned Round Table.

4. Ralph Lowe's Irish-bred but Texas-owned Gallant Man.

Perhaps three more will be in the starting gate at 4:30 p. m. (EST) for the nationally televised race (CBS). But a victory for any of them would be the biggest upset since Donerail won in 1913 and paid $184.90 for $2.

Clifford Lusky's Federal Hill, named for the hill on which stands "My Old Kentucky Home," is considered best of the trio. He is mighty fast but faint hearted. The other two are T. A. Grissom's Detroit-owned Shan Pac and either Indian Creek or Man Up Stairs from Mrs. Ada L. Rice's barns.

Ridgeley Cops Initial Meet

Ridgeley High's track and field team scored its first victory of the season by defeating Fort Ashby, 70 to 22, in a dual meet yesterday at Ridgeley. The Black Hawks took ten of 11 events.

The only first place credited to Fort Ashby was Barnes' winning effort of 4 feet, 11 inches in the high jump.

Jerry Sears was the only double winner. He captured both the half mile and one mile runs.

Ridgeley will compete in the Potomac Valley Conference meet Saturday at Berkeley Springs and will vie in the Mineral County meet at Keyser, May 15. Yesterday's summary:

100 Dash—1. Long, Ridgeley, 2. Tyngsboro, Ridgeley, 3. Rockman, Ridgeley, Time—11.5.

200 Dash—1. Rockman, Ridgeley, 2. Hensberger, Fort Ashby, 3. Ashenfelder, Ridgeley, Time—22.4.

Rangers' Heberton Wins Memorial Award

MONTREAL (INS)—Andy Heberton of the New York Rangers has edged out Detroit center Dutch Reibel and Toronto winger Sid Smith to win the 1956-57 Lady Byng Memorial Trophy for "sportsmanship and playing ability."

Heberton, who polled 45 points to Reibel's 39 and Smith's 37, will receive $1,000 from the National Hockey League with the trophy.

Tigers Give Duke Assist In Flag Bid

By The Associated Press

The Clemson Tigers, buried in the Atlantic Coast Conference baseball cellar, bobbed yesterday to trounce the conference's leading pitcher and thereby give league-leading Duke an assist toward another conference title.

Clemson, helped by four North Carolina errors, defeated the Tar Heels and ace righthander Jim Rauh 4-3. For the Tigers, it was the second win in 11 ACC games. It dropped UNC, which could have pulled into a first-place tie with Duke by winning, a full game back in second place.

In other games, Wake Forest moved into a third-place tie with South Carolina by plastering Maryland 15-0; seventh-place Virginia pulled North Carolina State down into fifth place by walloping the Wolfpack 19-6; and South Carolina lost a non-conference game to The Citadel 13-9.

Games today had N. C. State at Maryland and Wake Forest at Virginia.

The day's best pitching job was at College Park, Md., where Wake Forest's John Stokoe threw a one-hitter to shut out Maryland. He struck out 11 and walked one, and added two home runs to drive in four runs. The Deacons got seven unearned markers in the fourth inning. Wake Forest first baseman Jack Phillips had a 3-run homer in the sixth.

Give Sports Back To Players, Asks Oberlin President

NEW YORK (INS)—An Ohio college president has called for more stress on the educational purposes of athletics and a deemphasis of the prestige of winning.

Dr. William E. Stevenson, president of Oberlin College, said, "We should give the game back to the players and minimize college sports as public entertainment."

Stevenson spoke last night in New York at the annual Metropolitan Association AAU gold medal dinner.

He also pointed an accusing finger at the Ivy League for what he called abuse of its strict amateur athletic code.

He cited an example of an Ohio high school football player who, after receiving a dozen offers, accepted an Ivy League bid because it is the most substantial one of all."

Some Favor Making Larger Golf Hole

NEW YORK (NEA)—It is not inconceivable that Ben Hogan would have led this year's Masters after 36 holes had it not been for his unruly putter.

If Hogan has two-putted eight greens instead of three putting them, he would have had 143 for the two days instead of 151. He would have qualified for the final 36 and at the half-way point would have been two shots ahead of Doug Ford, the ultimate winner.

One comment of Hogan's was that the best golfers would win if the greens were funnel-shaped so that balls hitting them would automatically roll toward the hole.

Gene Sarazen, one of the all-time greats, has argued for years that the hole should be larger so that putting would not be so important.

Fort Hill's Jones Deprived Of No-Hit Game By Bad Hop

They're raving about the "Jones boy" today at Fort Hill High School following the Sentinels' 3-0 shutout victory over Beall yesterday on the locals' diamond.

Russ Jones, given the starting pitching assignment in the Allegheny County Baseball League contest, came within a bad hop of twirling a no-hitter as Fort Hill marked up its third victory against a tie.

The lone safety yielded by Jones came in the third when Bill Groves drilled a grounder that hit what appeared to be a soft spot and skidded past shortstop Thurl Roy for a single.

Sharing honors for the 1956 co-champions was catcher Gary Welford who batted in all three of the Sentinels' tallies. A squeeze bunt sent home Tom Shaw with the first run in the opening inning, while in the third Gary clobbered a two-bagger to right scoring Shaw, who had singled, and Roy, who had walked. Welford was thrown out on a close play at third attempting to stretch a hit into a triple.

Dave Richards went the route for Beall which suffered its first defeat against one victory and two ties. Richards gave up a half-dozen hits, four of which were shared by Shaw and Jim Hammond.

The Sentinels played errorless ball, with second baseman Shaw and right-fielder Jimmy Stinson supplying the defensive highlights.

The first of six games in which the annual city scholastic baseball championship hinges is scheduled for today at Campobello where LaSalle's Explorers and the Allegheny Campers will do battle at 4 p. m.

Three other league games are on tap for today.

Fort Hill tackles Bruce (2-1) in Westernport, Mt. Savage (1-3) tests Beall at Frostburg and Valley, with one win and two ties, opposes Flintstone at Flintstone.

Bob Garbark, former major league catcher with the Red Sox, Athletics and Cubs, coaches baseball and basketball and is assistant football coach at Allegheny College in Meadville, Pa.

On For 51 Weeks:

Mike Wallace Will Survive Any Rhubarb

By ATRA BAER

NEW YORK (JNS)—Regard- less of what nationwide reaction is to Mike Wallace—and you can bet Bobby Strom's piggybank that some of it is going to be sizzling—Mike told me yesterday that the ABC network has guar- anteed he'll be on for the next 51 weeks whether he's sponsored or unsponsored.

His contract states that in the event of a rhubarb he can't be "paid off"—that is, given a full year's pay and asked to exit quietly while a new comic or an old movie takes over his spot. Furthermore, that small print contains a big clause: Mike has to be heard during "prime time."

"I can't think of another deal like it," says Mike, and neither can I.

Perhaps all of this contract talk might seem a trifle unwarranted since Sunday's show found the still fabulous-faced Gloria Swanson perched in Mike's notorious "hot seat," cool as if she were on a porch swing, with all her chic ruffles unfurled.

Mike's future guests promise to be another story. Next week's closeup of the Ku Klux Klan's "grand wizard" will be followed by a special treat for all mothers on Mother's Day: Philip Wylie.

"Gloria is the essence of diplo- macy," says Mike. "Course Mike is using the word 'diplomacy' the way many diplomats use it. The definition being: Circumnavigating a leading question and smiling willingly."

I understand that Kate Smith lost all that weight—round 100 pounds—by the slow, sensible and painfully pill-less method. It took well over a year of pushing away buttered potatoes and pastries, but the unanimous verdict is that one year's torture makes Kate look 10 years younger.

Last Sunday's "Kate Smith Hour" would, unfortunately, be a regular show. Kate and her long-time business associate, Ted Collins, say they're "not interested" in a steady live show. But add they "wouldn't be adverse to the right filmed series."

Lillian Roth hopes to quit the supper-club circuit completely in favor of her own TV series.

Mary Haworth's Mail

Editor's Note: When man wanted marriage, woman didn't, but now that she's in the mood, he isn't.

DEAR MARY HAWORTH: My gentleman friend (he is 42 and I am 47) wrote you some time ago about us; and now I am writing. He told you that we were very much in love, but that I felt we didn't have enough in common to make a happy marriage. It is true that I held on to him, until he and I would find someone else (I hoped) for each of us, more suitable from a practical angle.

However, we have reached the stage where I have decided to marry him because my love is so great, and neither of us could find another we could love so much. But now that I want to marry him, he is hesitant and fearful.

She's Teacher; He's Unlettered

He feels that because of differ- ences—in height, in background and in religion—I would be dissatisfied later. I am a teacher; he is an unskilled worker who didn't graduate from elementary school and his speech shows it. I am five feet seven inches tall; he is five inches shorter.

All these things bothered me until June. A report will be given by Mrs. Garland Paxton, food and nutrition chairman.

we would be unhappy if we married? Or would we be happy with only this deep love for each other?

I have had serious problems all my life. Would such a marriage add to them? Please answer soon. R. Z.

What Do They Mean By Love?

DEAR R. Z.: In making a marriage, persons should be realistic. It is unrealistic and self-defeating to expect ideal answers to needs. But on the other hand, it is unsound and self-betraying to settle for "just anything," only because material worthwhile hasn't appeared.

You indicate that you and Harry (let's call him) have been very much in love, despite your insistent feeling that you don't belong together, for certain spec- ific reasons. But I wonder what you mean by love? If you really do care about each other, in a positively interested helpful spirit, those "differences" that have worried you might be incidental and sub- stantial foundation of natural congeniality.

On the other hand, it is possible that the feelings you call love are "strictly from hunger," as the phrase goes. Maybe you and Harry drifted together mostly be- cause there was nobody else available—nobody, that is, who gave you a "break" of interest and encouragement. And perhaps you've clung to him simply as your sole relief from oppressive loneliness.

Urgency Based On Fear Of Loss?

This possibility is suggested by your admission that for a long time you regarded the mix- matched companionship as a tem- porary stop-gap, and kept hoping that something better would show up—and were frank with Harry about your cagey reservations.

As to why you've now decided it is love—so great that neither could ever love another as much—perhaps this is the voice of habit, inertia, discouragement and cumulative dependency speaking.

Maybe it is an expression of deeply ingrained negativism—in the sense that you are beginning to panic at the prospect of (1) not only never finding a "happier" answer than Harry, but (2) pos- sibly losing your hold on him eventually, too.

It is interesting that you and Harry seem always to be operat- ing at cross purposes, as regards marriage. When he's in the mood, you're not; and when you are, he isn't. Does this mean that (un- consciously) you both shun mar- riage—and only "feel the urge" when the way seems blocked?

Future Issues From The Past

As to whether you would (or could) be happy if married to each other, I think it is safe to say that the "tone" of your al- liance, to date, would carry over into the married state. Have you been happy companions thus far? Or is the relationship a constant see-saw of dissatisfaction, uncer- tainty and frustration—with an occasional "for" what the other's "against" in most instances?

My advice is—don't get alarmed or aggressive about trying to pit the idea, keep him as a friend, and leave the door open to Providence. A better love is surely in the cards, if you cast out fear and live in faith, hope and generosity of spirit.

Career Corner

By JOAN HANAUER

NEW YORK (JNS)—The abil- ity to express yourself in writing is an important job-getting and career-promoting asset—whether you want to be a home economist or a higher mathematician.

Unfortunately, personnel direc- tors and employers throughout the country complain that many high school and college graduates can't write what they think in clear, concise and grammatical English.

In the words of J. Arvid Jons- son, director of personnel ad- ministration for a large food con- cern: "organizing a report and pulling it into readable English may sound easy, but few of the applicants who knock at my per- sonnel door have this skill."

Almost every form of employ- ment requires writing ability, one type or another. Often a job applicant must write an auto- biography and or resume before he is hired. Once hired, almost all employees must at one time or another write reports or letters in clear, concise and grammatical English.

You may be thinking clearly, but your boss will never know it if you don't write the same way.

For this reason, it's important for high school and college stud- ents to concentrate on their Eng- lish writing studies, even though they have no direct ambitions in that field. Those who already have been graduated and feel the need for brushups can enroll in adult education courses at local night schools.

Scranton TV Station Gave Racket Story

By CHARLES MERCER
NEW YORK (A)—Newspaper men frequently upbraid television for failure to give extensive cov- erage to important news. Here at last is an opportunity to praise a work of fine initiative in TV reporting which should serve as a model.

The biggest news in Scranton, Pa., this past fortnight has been the Senate Rackets Committee hearings on union violence there. Thanks to the efforts of station WDAU-TV, an affiliate of CBS, Scranton television viewers should be thoroughly informed on the hearings.

On April 16, 17 and 18 station WDAU-TV presented 14,300 feet of sound film of the Washington hearings during eight hours of pre-empted commercial program time. In other words, the station felt it was more important that its viewers be well informed on a vital local matter than that the station should harvest the financial returns of that time from ad- vertisers.

To Continue Coverage
Just as long as the Senate com- mittee focuses on Scranton WDAU-TV will continue to per- form the same complete coverage, says station general manager Vance Eckerley.

It was a big project for a single television station, though it did have the hearty cooperation of the CBS news department in Wash- ington. Here is how it worked un- der the direction of the station's news director, Tom Powell, with the cooperation of network Wash- ington news chiefs:

A WDAU courier was kept busy hurrying the rolls of film to the airport, where each of the five regular daily flights from Wash- ington to Scranton were utilized to speed the reels to their desti- nations. At Scranton airport an- other courier rushed the film to the news room.

To handle the extensive footage two special daily shows were ar- ranged—both in commercial time. The first was at 5:30 p. m. in the evening when there was a half- hour program of the day's high- lights, at 11:30 p. m. commercial time of two hours was pre-empted to run the entire day's hearings. Throughout the day there were special bulletins and regular news telecasts.

As far as can be learned from network sources, this is the most complete television coverage of a national news story by a local sta- tion ever achieved.

Manholes Planned For Interceptor

Several manholes will be ad- ded in the city's main interceptor sewer, according to Street Com- missioner William H. Buchholz. He said the 48-inch sewer line was laid in 1935 as a PWA pro- ject and during last week's test, withstood the weight of fill which is being placed on it during flood control work.

But Buchholz said some of the manholes are from 1,000 to 2,000 feet apart, and that the city feels it should have addi- tional manholes in the area to be covered by fill, so workers can inspect or make repairs to the sewer, which will be about 23 feet below the top of the fill.

'Cinderella' Ballet Given Top Rating By Reviewer

By W. G. ROGERS
AP Arts Editor

NEW YORK (A)—A fetching com- bination of ballet and romp made up the charming "Cinderella," pre- sented last night in color to a TV audience on Producers' Showcase.

Margot Fonteyn led the famous Sadler's Wells-Royal Ballet in a 75-minute number created almost 10 years ago by choreographer Frederick Ashton of the English dance company.

She had danced the title part here before, Ashton, too, had ap- peared here as one of the two wicked stepisters, Kenneth Mac- Millan was this time his slapstick equal in the role of the other one.

The work is a pantomime, in large part, and pantomime is par- ticularly the English cup of tea. It has slow spots, but the plot comes across clearly: the stepis- ters planning for the ball, the fairy godmother to the drudge's rescue, the dancing, the hand- some prince, the fatal stroke of midnight, the lost slipper, and finally the girl in the beau's arms.

On this occasion the camera, in- stead of interfering with the pro- duction as it has been known to, played a novel and important role. It not only caught the framed dance groups artistically, it also was the magic means for conjur- ing a bevy of four pretty "sea- sons" out of a frumpy old fairy godmother, metamorphosing a pumpkin into a coach and chang- ing the household drudge into the ravishing princess.

Michael Somes was the prince, Alexander Grant the jester, and Julia Farron the fairy godmother. Impresario Sol Hurok was the fairy godfather who whisked the company over here from England for a week-long stay and this sin- gle NBC-TV performance. It is the company's fifth visit to the States. A sixth is due in the fall.

The ballet was set to music by Prokofiev, Robert Irving conduct- ed.

Embarrassing Recall

MARINETTE, Wis.—After extinguishing a small blaze at an industrial plant, Marinette firemen had returned to their station when the alarm sounded and they went speeding back to the same place. They were confronted by a sheepish fireman who had stayed behind to reset the alarm box and accidentally tripped the wrong lever.

Navymen Revive Sea Chanteys

GREAT LAKES, Ill.—(INS)—When iron men sailed wooden ships they sang chanteys to help them work. Today's young sailors have salvaged the sunken ditties, but just for fun.

Great Lakes Naval Training station has spawned a group of singing sailors specializing in the old work songs of the sea. The group is called "The Chanteymen."

Chanteymen were indispensable members of a sailing vessel's crew in the old days.

The songs were strong and rhythmic. When a heavy sail or an anchor was to be hoisted, the crew lined up and the chanteyman took over. He would sing a phrase and the crew bawled a lusty answer. On the accented beats, muscled backs strained in unison and hauled away.

But sea chanteys were to be found only in barnacle-crusted old volumes and among the repertoires of a few obscure folk singers in recent times.

The 25-man Great Lakes chantey group sings these robust tunes to entertain Navy personnel and civilians in the area, for pleasure and, in the words of Captain A. C. Burrows, commander at Great Lakes:

"To preserve the heritage of the sea."

What a season coming up!

Whatever happened to the "summer slump" that used to set in every year in the early days of television? Nowadays the summer season gives TV networks and stations an opportunity to develop new shows that will frequently become fall favorites—and many of the finer series no longer take a vacation, but entertain and inform throughout the year—so if you've kept putting off your connection to Cable TV—the summer season is no longer an excuse!

"Come in, the viewing's fine." The Potomac Valley Television company's installers are always on the job, so if you're not already a subscriber, call about your Cable installation instead of worrying along with a roof top antenna through the storm season.

Good watching never takes a holiday! See for yourself soon by calling Potomac Valley Television Company for INFORMATION and a FREE Demonstration.

Dr. Reddick Loses Latest Court Battle

Injunction Sought To Halt Examining Of Papers Refused

BALTIMORE (AP) — Dr. Robert H. Reddick, ousted as chief psychiatrist at Eastern Shore State Hospital, has lost the latest round in his continuing legal battle with the state.

Circuit Judge Edwin H. Harlan refused yesterday to issue an injunction sought by Reddick and his attorney, John J. O'Connor Jr. They had asked that the state be prohibited from examining papers seized last Friday night in a police raid on Reddick's North Baltimore home.

Dr. Reddick is former secretary-treasurer of the Maryland State Homeopathic Medical Society. A 1957 legislative act eliminated the State Board of Homeopathic Medical Examiners and vested sole licensing authority in the Maryland Medical and Chirurgical Society.

Awaits Contempt Trial
Dr. Reddick is awaiting trial on a charge of contempt of a 1956 injunction forbidding him from issuing medical licenses in the board's name.

Special Asst. Atty. Gen. James H. Norris Jr. opened three large cartons of Reddick's papers yesterday after the proposed injunction was denied. The cartons had been sealed with wax at Dr. Reddick's insistence. Norris led the raid on Reddick's home last Friday night.

No Valid Probable Cause
Dr. Reddick, in seeking the injunction, contended that the search warrant had been issued without valid probable cause. He said all the papers should be returned to him.

Norris said the search and seizure were based on information that two duplicates of medical licenses were presented for recording in Garrett County Circuit Court April 15, and added: "We look any papers which looked like they pertained to the Medical Practices Act."

Optimists To Hear AHS Speech Winner

Miss Judy Ritchie, speech contest winner at Allegany High School, will speak at the weekly meeting of the Bedford Road Optimist Club today at 7 p. m. at the Bedford Fire Hall. Her subject will be "What Religion Means to a Teenager."

The board of governors will meet at the home of George Brant following the regular meeting.

Steinberger Exhibit Awarded Best Of Community Flower Show Prize

The green ribbon for the outstanding flower exhibit in the Community Flower Show which opened yesterday at the Eagles home on North Mechanic Street has been won by Mrs. Rudolph S. Steinberger of Cresaptown. The ribbon was awarded by the Federated Garden Club of Maryland.

Mrs. Steinberger winning entry in the "Appalachian Spring" show being presented by the Garden Club of Cumberland was exhibited in the flower arrangements section in the "Wearing of the Green" class. Her exhibits in the two-day show which closes tonight was adjudged the best by four visiting judges from Mt. Airy and Frederick.

Judges for the show were Mrs. G. Frank Harris, Mt. Airy; Mrs. John Peyton Thrasher, Frederick; Mrs. J. Keller Smith, Mt. Airy; and Miss Helen L. Smith, Frederick.

Other special awards went to Mrs. R. L. Horstman, purple ribbon awarded by the Federated Garden Club of Maryland for the outstanding horticultural exhibit; Woman's Civic Club plaque for the greatest number of blue ribbons; and also the sweepstakes white ribbon awarded by the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland for the greatest number of points.

The County Council of Homemakers' table setting for informal buffet supper with arrangements by Mrs. Douglas Smith and Mrs. Herbert Nesbitt, won the plaque awarded by the Garden Club of Cumberland for the outstanding table arrangement.

Mrs. Coit Speicher won the sweepstakes white ribbon awarded by the Federated Garden Clubs of Maryland for the greatest number of points in arrangements.

Loren Morey won the Garden Club of Cumberland plaque for the best arrangement in the Junior division.

Other ribbons were awarded in the following classes:

ARRANGEMENTS—Section D:
Class 1, Spring Song—First, Mrs. H. Bowman; third, Mrs. Donald

West Virginia Given Extra Drinking Hour

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—The cut-off hour for sale of beer in West Virginia cities which have adopted Daylight Saving Time for the summer is 1 a. m.

This was stressed today by Beer Commissioner Roy D. Platt. The switch of some cities to Daylight Saving Time effective yesterday resulted in a flood of calls to Platt's office today from tavern owners and police who were confused about legal hours for sale of beer.

Lions Club To Host Miss Barbara Mann

Miss Barbara Mann, president of the Senate of the recent Model Legislature, will be guest of the Cumberland Lions Club at its meeting tomorrow at 12:15 p. m. in the Community Room of Central YMCA.

Miss Mann will preside over the luncheon meeting which will be conducted like a meeting of the legislature with each Lion acting as a senator. Also taking part in the program will be William Sitter from Allegany High School and Harold Counihan and Gail Garlitz from Fort Hill.
